Submarine Is Sought After Torpedo Attack Upon Warship

Britain Sends 8 Destroyers to Mediterranean Area

FRANCE MAY JOIN 18 Vessels Targets in Spanish Waters Since Aug. 1

Gibraltar—(U)—Great Britain's admiralty concentrated a flotilla of eight destroyers today in a Mediterranean area off the Spanish east coast to bring to strict account a submarine which fired a torpedo at H. M. S. Havock.

Other warships were nearby, awaiting orders. The entire Mediterranean fleet, now engaged in maneuvers off Italian and Dalmatian coasts and in the lower Mediterranean, was available for instant duty.

Havock, it was disclosed, set off a depth charge after the torpedo had missed its mark. The results of the charge were not known.

Other destroyers searching day and night for the mysterious submersible were equipped with similar depth charges capable of blowing up the submarine if heavy guns were unable to sink it on the surface.

Sun Renews Heat Attack And Mercury Soars to 95; Little Relief Is in Sight

ACTRESS WEDS

Jasper, Ala.—(U)—Tallulah Bankhead was honeymoon bound today with actor John Emery, her husband of a day.

"I married for love," said the glamorous star of stage and screen, adding she never had been married before and "never would again."

Their marriage took place last night in the home of the bride's father, Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house of representatives.

The sun launched another heat attack on residents of Appleton and vicinity today. Persons in this area are not the only ones suffering the current heat wave, however, as temperatures well over the 90-degree mark were reported in various Wisconsin cities yesterday.

With the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registering 95 degrees at noon today, business and household activities were curtailed to a minimum and ways and means of escaping the intense heat and high humidity were the chief topic of conversations.

Although the weatherman forecasts partly cloudy to cloudy weather for today with showers in the northern areas tonight, reports from all sections of the state indicated "no rain" and "not a cloud in the sky."

Causes Death

Heat was blamed for the death of Nicholas Stoffel, 83, Campbell street, and the profection of Earl Little, 42, LaCrosse, yesterday.

Maximum and minimum temperatures were 95 degrees and 72 degrees in Appleton yesterday, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company for the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning.

Highest temperatures recorded in the state yesterday were at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh with 96 degrees while Superior enjoyed a maximum of 64 and tops at Manitowish was 82 degrees. Milwaukee summured in 84-degree heat intensified by humidity of 85 per cent, according to the Associated Press.

Frank Coleman, government meteorologist, reported Milwaukee's average temperature for August at 74.8 degrees, equal to the average established in August, 1900.

The Associated Press reported highest and lowest temperature for the nation yesterday at Phoenix with 98 degrees and Spokane and Yellowstone at 44 degrees.

Heat Is General

Yesterday's maximum temperatures and recordings this morning in various Wisconsin cities (with yesterday's high points mentioned first) follow:

Stevens Point 95 and 75, Sheboygan 92 and 64, Rhinelander 92 and 77, Marshfield 94 and 62, Wisconsin Rapids 95 and 69, Chippewa Falls 92 and 66, Eau Claire 95 and 66, Green Bay 94 and 60, Fond du Lac 96 and 66, Wausau 92 and 76, Oshkosh 96 and 64, Manitowish 82 and 78, Madison 91 and 78, Antigo 92 and 78.

In upper Michigan, Marquette had a maximum of 76 yesterday, while it was 80 at Escanaba and 69 at Sault Ste. Marie. The forecast today said, however, "Somewhat warmer along Lake Superior tonight."

Kimberly Boy Is Drowned in Fox River Tailrace

Benjamin Van Beek, 7, Accidentally Loses Life Reaching for Crab

Benjamin Van Beek, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Van Beek, Kimberly, was drowned in a tailrace of the Fox river near the bridge, between Little Chute and Kimberly at 12:45 this afternoon when he fell from a rock ledge into the water. The boy, with Donald Jensen, also of Kimberly, was reaching for a crab when the accident occurred, according to a report of the sheriff's department.

Jensen ran to the Van Beek home and told of the accident, while Sylvester Vandenberg, Little Chute, plunged into the water after being informed of the mishap by his daughter, Bertha Vandenberg, who saw the Van Beek boy fall into the river. The body was recovered by Vandenberg in five feet of water about an hour after the boy went under. The Little Chute pulmotor was used but failed to resuscitate the boy after an hour.

Coroner H. E. Ellsworth and Sheriff John F. Lappen were called along with Patrolman Jack Frenz of the county motorcycle police and after an investigation the coroner announced there would be no inquest.

Survivors are the parents, four brothers, John, Martin, Peter, Richard, Kimberly; three sisters, Pauline, Mary Ann, Kimberly, Frances, Holland, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Der Ven, Holland.

45 Drunken Drivers Since Jan. 1st

Ervin Wunderlich, about 30, town of Greenville, was fined $75 and costs plus 10 days in the county jail with an alternative of 90 days in the county jail when he was found guilty of drunken driving Tuesday afternoon in municipal court. Judge Thomas H. Ryan imposed the fine and jail sentence, giving Wunderlich the extra 10 days in jail to "sober up."

The defendant paid the fine. The court was told that Wunderlich previously was convicted of drunken driving. Wunderlich pleaded not guilty to the charge which was preferred less than two hours after he was arrested in a ditch on Highway 76 by county motor police answering a police radio alarm. The county patrolman told the court that Wunderlich backed his car out of a driveway on Highway 45 in front of an approaching car from Ripon and was involved in a slight accident.

After the accident a police radio alarm was broadcast and Wunderlich was discovered in the ditch. Wunderlich's driver's license was revoked for one year.

Milwaukee—(U)—William Gibbs, 39, was charged with first degree manslaughter today in a warrant issued by District Attorney Herbert Steffes in connection with the death in a hospital last night of John Stuart, 30, filling station attendant, who succumbed to injuries he received in a fist fight early in the evening.

Police said Gibbs surrendered five hours after the fight and after he had conferred with an attorney. The police said the man claimed he struck Stuart in self-defense. He will be arraigned Thursday.

A warrant has been issued charging Hostetter with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. When Hostetter is apprehended and the case investigated the charge may be changed, assistant County Attorney Paul L. Kildee said.

The girl, who disappeared at the same time as did her uncle, on July 17, is Eleanor Hostetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hostetter. She is a junior in Waterloo West High school.

Deficit to be Under Advance Figure, Belief

Larger Repayments of Federal Loans and Economies are Factors

RELIEF FUNDS CUT Federal Revenue Increases 34 Per Cent During July, August

Washington—(U)—Treasury officials expressed confidence today this fiscal year's deficit will be under the predicted $410,000,000 despite a $357,923,000 red ink balance for the first two months.

They said the July-August deficit would be offset by economies and increased repayments of federal loans during the remainder of the year ending next June 30.

Reports showed today that revenue for the fiscal year was $230,000,000 greater than income in July and $108,339,000 higher in August, with the last two days unreported.

This total was $31,000,000 more than the deficit for the first two months of operation of the government in the last fiscal year. The July deficit was $126,000,000, more than for July, 1936, while that for August was $95,000,000 under the figure for the same month last year.

The estimate of a $410,000,000 deficit for this year was made by President Roosevelt last April.

Revenue Gains

Officials who predicted it will be held under this figure pointed to a 34 per cent increase in revenue for July and August, compared to the same months last year, and said relief and recovery expenditures had been cut sharply.

Through this increase in revenue the ratio of collections to expenditures was higher despite the larger deficit.

Treasury officials figured collections were at the rate of 69.8 cents for every dollar spent compared to 65.3 cents in July and August, 1936.

Discussing the possible deficit, they said a revised "economy" budget for the year might be completed in the near future by the budget bureau.

Working up budget estimates for the 1939 fiscal year when administration leaders have asserted, the budget will be balanced.

Two Pittsburgh Hotels Are Affected by Strike

Pittsburgh—(U)—A strike of elevator operators, cooks and other service employees marooned 1,400 guests in two of Pittsburgh's largest hotels today.

Members of two American Federation of Labor unions rejected management offers of a closed shop and threw picket lines around the 16,000-room William Penn, city's largest hotel, and the 600-room Fort Pitt. Both hotels are owned by the Pittsburgh Hotels corporation.

Many of the 900 guests at the William Penn and 500 at the Fort Pitt idled in the lobbies until late last night hoping for a settlement, before they attempted the climb to their rooms—some to the sixteenth floor.

The bartenders' union walked out in a sympathy strike after the collapse of week-long negotiations between the management and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' alliance, representing the bellhops, cooks, waiters, and kitchen employees.

Janitors, telephone operators and business office employees remained at their jobs.

Chicago Fire Escapes To Have Electric Alarms

Chicago—(U)—Ordinance requiring fire escapes to be equipped with electric alarms was the city council's latest move today in the campaign to stop attacks on women by degenerates.

Mayor Edward Kelly sponsored the legislation after a recent series of outrages by men who gained entry to women's rooms in hotels, apartments and hospitals by means of fire escapes.

The ordinance requires electric sirens or bells which would sound when a person treads on the lower steps of fire escapes.

Take Steps to Curb Disease In Milwaukee

Children Under 7 Banned From Schools to Check Infantile Paralysis

TOTAL OF 25 CASES Churches, Theaters and 'Any Other Place or Gathering' Included

Milwaukee—(U)—The city health department today barred children under 7 from attending school or appearing at any public places until Sept. 20, because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis.

Opening of kindergarten and primary grades of Milwaukee schools was postponed by the order. Parents were directed to assist in enforcing the order. Fines up to $100 or imprisonment up to 90 days may be given to violators.

Dr. E. V. Brumbaugh, deputy health commissioner, issued the order. Twenty-five cases of infantile paralysis were being treated today, of which seven were non-resident. West Allis reported its first case. One recovery was effected by one of the new cases. Four deaths have occurred since July.

Dr. Brumbaugh said that August and September were the worst months for the disease.

Affects Churches

The order affects schools, churches, theaters and "any other place or gathering."

Since 1912 there have been four infantile paralysis epidemic years in Milwaukee, health department records show. In 1918 there were 92 cases; in 1919, 90; 1930, 65, and 1931, 60. Since 1912 there have been 311 cases in Milwaukee.

Only nine cases of infantile paralysis (poliomyelitis) have been reported in Wisconsin outside Milwaukee and Milwaukee county.

Brumbaugh said that the situation "is not at all satisfactory."

About 9,000 kindergarten children and 5,000 first grade pupils would be affected by the order. Suburban health officers were expected to follow Brumbaugh's lead.

Chicago Action

Chicago—(U)—The summer vacation of Chicago's 619,000 public and parochial school children was prolonged indefinitely today as a precautionary step against an outbreak of infantile paralysis.

Delay, in the opening of all schools, scheduled for next Tuesday, was ordered by the board of health last night after 109 cases were reported during August, as compared with 99 in August, 1916, the previous all-time high.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board president, said the disease was "rapidly approaching an epidemic stage."

Horsts Get Permanent Custody of Young Boy

Chicago—(U)—While 31-month-old Donald Horst played with his toys in the rear of the courtroom today, he was placed in the permanent custody of the foster parents from whom he was wrested by his real mother and father on Aug. 3.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki signed a decree awarding the boy to Otto and Martha Horst after his mother, Mrs. Lydia Nelson Lavin, sobbingly testified she was certain the Horsts would be good to him.

The mother's hysterical crying forced a halt to the hearing shortly after it began.

"I have nothing, nothing, now," she kept saying.

Mrs. Lavin, the common law wife of John Reagan who she said was Donald's father, testified the boy was taken from her 15 minutes after his birth, Jan. 6, 1935. The attending physician, Dr. John A. Rose, placed him in the Horst home, but kept identity of Donald's adopters secret from the natural parents.

Remove Knife Blade From Brain of Negro

Ironwood, Mich.—(U)—Will Elder, 40, Negro employee of a carnival company wanted to get back to work today.

Physicians at the hospital didn't think so much of the idea. They had removed a two and one-half inch knife blade from Elder's brain Monday.

Elder came to the hospital for treatment of a head injury which he said was the result of being struck by a mop handle. An X-ray revealed the presence of a foreign body in Elder's cranium. Surgeons operated and found that a knife blade had been driven through the middle skull into the brain, where an abscess was forming.

Police investigated but learned of no clues on the carnival grounds.

New Fires Raging in Shanghai as Japanese Launch Big Offensive

Roper Says Shipping 'Tension Has Been Relieved' in Zone

EARLY ORDER SEEN

Jap Embargo to be Enforced Only Against Chinese Ships

Washington—(U)—Secretary Roper, saying "tension has been relieved" in the Shanghai area, predicted today American merchant vessels would be "given access to Chinese waters."

Discussing navy orders to American merchant vessels to stay out of the war-torn Shanghai area, Roper told his press conference no order had been issued withdrawing American passengers and cargo vessels from Chinese waters.

He added that after the bombing of the S. S. President Hoover, the navy had stated "that merchant vessels would not enter Chinese waters under the conditions now existing."

"However," Roper added, "tension has been relieved and it is my opinion that merchant vessels will be given access" to Chinese waters.

No Time Set

Roper declined to say when American cargo and passenger ships might be permitted to go freely into China waters again. It was expected, however, it would be soon.

The Japanese government, Roper said, has "very definitely stated" that its embargo against China will be enforced only against Chinese vessels.

Even before Roper discussed the Sino-Japanese situation with news men informed persons had intimated that American merchant ships soon would be allowed to resume calls at the strife-torn ports of Shanghai.

Informed persons said there probably would be increased watchfulness from navy vessels over American ships, but it was unlikely the navy would formally convoy them in and out of the port at this time.

Secretary Hull at a press conference referred to the navy order closing Shanghai to American merchant vessels as one for "the time being."

Speed Flier Hurt When His Plane Burns at Landing

Major Alexander De Seversky Suffers Only Slight Injuries

New York—(U)—Major Alexander D. De Seversky, speed flier and head of the Seversky Aircraft corporation, was reported slightly injured today when his racing monoplane ran off the runway, collapsed, and burst into flames in a landing at Floyd Bennett field.

Major De Seversky had just arrived from Hartford, Conn. He planned to refuel at Floyd Bennett and take off immediately on a cross country flight to Los Angeles, prior to taking part in the Bendix race this weekend which will open the national air races at Cleveland.

Spectators said the landing gear of the monoplane seemed to give way as the plane landed.

As the ship nosed over, it caught fire. Emergency apparatus sped to the spot and De Seversky was extricated. The flames were extinguished, but the ship was wrecked.

De Seversky, a World war flier in the Imperial Russian navy, flew from Floyd Bennett field to Miami, Fla., in 5 hours, 46 minutes last Dec. 13 and claimed a new unofficial record for amphibians.

Three years earlier he had set a speed record for amphibian planes, averaging 177.79 miles an hour in four laps at the national air pageant at Roosevelt field.

Accidents in which he figured previously have been minor. Once the propeller of his ship broke and he narrowly missed hitting a cow when he landed. Another time, in taking off for Washington in an amphibian, the guide rope failed to let go and two of his mechanics were flung into Long Island sound.

Britain and U. S. May Unite Naval Power To Aid Nationals

By the Associated Press

Shanghai—Fires added new terror to ravaged Shanghai as Japanese naval guns, aerial bombs opened battle against "all China." Japan landed reinforcements from troops locked with Chinese legions outside Shanghai; Japanese possessed Woosung, strategic river fort, Anglo-American naval chiefs considered joint convoys to free refugees trapped by Japanese warning foreign ships must avoid Shanghai.

Kobe—Bomb-scarred American liner President Hoover landed victims of Chinese air raids.

Peiping—Stubborn Chinese resistance, torrential rains halted Japanese advance on interior war fronts.

London—Daily express demanded speed in Japanese reply to protest over shooting British ambassador to China.

San Pedro—Three new heavy cruisers ready to reinforce United States forces in China.

Shanghai—(U)—A terrifying series of great new fires were in Shanghai tonight, kindled by the ongoing naval guns and aerial bombs of Japan's big offensive against all of China.

The blazes, one of them in the Soochow creek area facing the American-defended sector of the international settlement, formed a startling and awful background for the military drama.

Twenty-one Japanese destroyers and cruisers pumped shells into the Chapel and Kiangwan sectors of Shanghai's north end, as Japanese warplanes rained bombs on Chinese positions.

Woosung, Shanghai's historic defense post at the wide river bend where the Whangpoo meets the Yangtze, already was in Japanese hands. But the hard-pressed Chinese were fighting on with unmatched courage and tenacity, holding firmly to many important positions.

Consider Convoys Plan

The Shanghai's certain raise to the Japanese offensive to extend all over China found American and British naval commanders considering the possibility of uniting their protective strength to force a way to the sea for their refugees.

The Anglo-British naval authorities discussed a convoy plan to force an open and safe path down the Yangtze and Whangpoo rivers—both choked with Japanese warships—after Japan had warned all foreign shipping to clear of her naval concentrations there.

An open route to the sea is vital to the safety of Americans and other foreigners in Shanghai because, with the international city hemmed in by fighting, the Yangtze and Whangpoo are their only hope of escape.

Mills Demolished

Sheffield demolished the American mortared Woon on company cotton mills at Woosung. The mills had been flying the United States flag.

The German-supported Tungchi university was razed in the bombardment. The shelling was so heavy that the university's newly-constructed bombproof dugouts had to be evacuated.

Woosung suburbs were occupied by Nippon's warriors after hand-to-hand fighting. Time and again waves of Japanese attackers, bayonets glancing, charged the Chinese lines. Finally the defenders fell back.

Thus Japan gained revenge for her early defeats at Woosung in 1932, but only at heavy sacrifice.

For the first time Japanese artillery reinforcements moved into the international settlement. Four inch and six inch guns, mounted on caterpillar tractors, rumbled into Yangtze, a part of the settlement.

Additional Japanese troops landed at Wayside wharf in Shanghai. Regular army units replaced exhausted Japanese bluejackets in the

Reduce Barriers To Home Owners, Stark Tells Club

National Real Estate Head Speaks at Meeting Of Rotary

Home ownership and adequate housing, important culturally and morally, will constitute a trouble for a problem in our country until heavy real estate taxes are lightened, high interest rates lowered, and the periods of amortization lengthened, Paul Stark, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, told members of the Rotary club at a noon luncheon at the Northern hotel yesterday.

Before the Rotarians, real estate men, contractors, bankers, and builders, members of the club were assembled to hear the nationally prominent Madison official talk on the subject of "The Housing Problem As It Affects Us Today."

"The first has come when the lower income group does not have the opportunity to own homes," Stark said. "It is up to you and me then, to have that chance. We must remove the barriers that we have erected against home ownership."

Building Below Normal
Home ownership, taxes, interest rates, and short amortization periods are largely responsible for the fact that annual residential building in this country is far below the figure that the population warrants, according to Stark.

"In normal times, we should be spending $2,000,000 yearly for residential units. So far this year we have spent $1,000,000. We need 200,000 new residential units each year, and during 1938, we turned out only 100,000," he said.

These same barriers were responsible for the epidemic of mortgage foreclosures that reached through the country in 1933, the real estate official declared, when homes were being taken from owners at the rate of 1,000 per day.

"The culture, character, and happenings of people are reflected in the comfort of the structures in which they live," Stark said. "And, conversely, disease, filth, and crime follow in the wake of poor homes and slums."

"Trying to provide homes for the needy and to give the home owner more security, the government established such bureaus as the FICA, FRA, FWA, and RRA, all of which either granted loans for that purpose or actually engaged in construction."

"The government has done all this, but it still has not removed the barriers which started the 1933 depression. The government will not be the biggest landlord in the country. The rents in many government apartment houses built in slum areas are too high for the people for whom they were intended."

Want 'Decent' Homes
The plan advocated by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Stark explained, gets to the heart of the problem by assuming first that the goal is to obtain "decent homes for all."

Conceding his attention on real estate taxes, Stark said it "seemed absurd" for a government should spend seven billion dollars on a building program only to have municipal governments weaken it by extending such heavy tax levies.

"Real estate taxes only 20 per cent of the total income, yet they cost 80 per cent of the taxes. I think this system of taxation is unbalanced and will produce more depression than anything else."

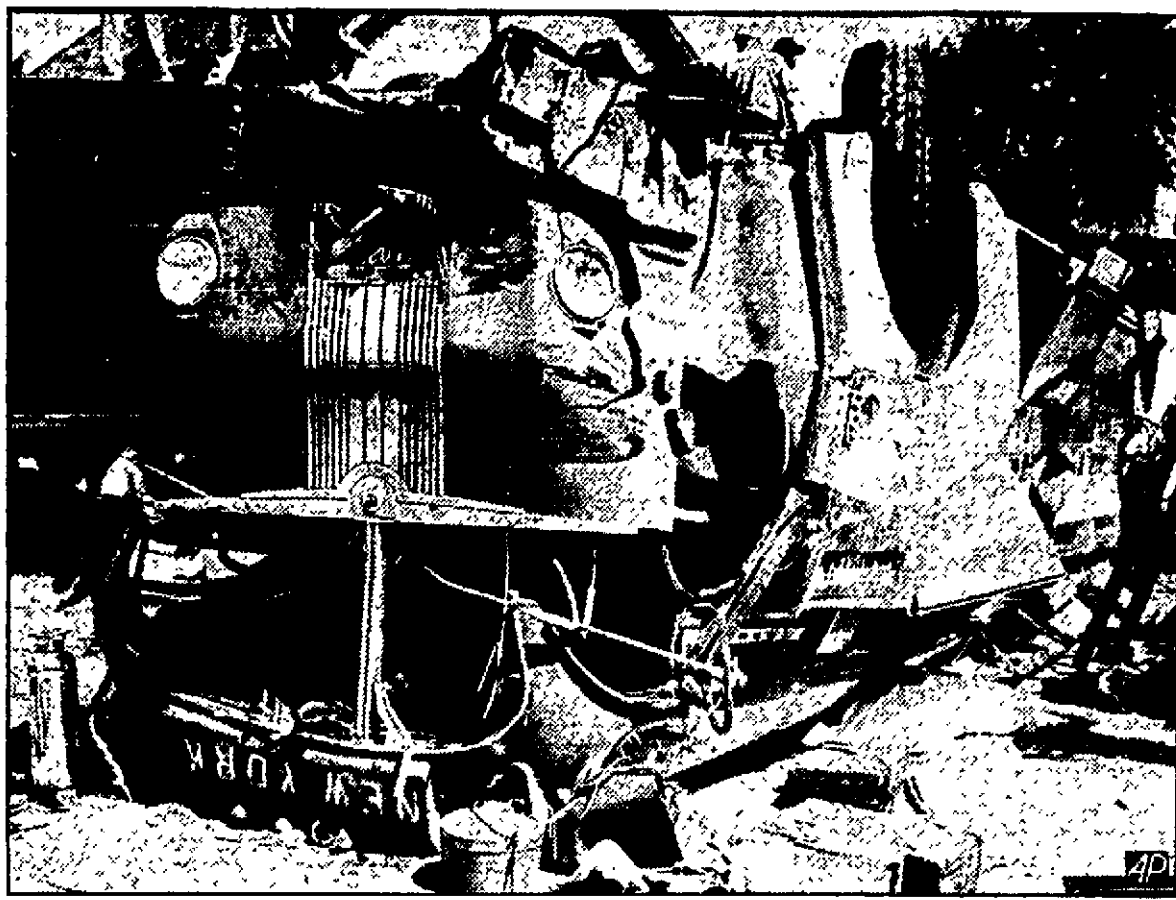

He declared, "People want to own homes, but are prevented by the government that confiscates their property through the arm of taxation."

High Interest Rates
He attacked high interest rates on home building as hindering a solution to the housing problem.

"Does it seem strange to you that in the United States, the richest country in the world, our interest rates should be the highest in the world?" Stark asked.

"The rate of amortization should be lengthened. Government agencies should be set up to hold the rates down. It has been suggested that if interest rates were lowered to 4 per cent and the period of amortization extended to 20 years, the nation's new families would be able to own their own homes."

Fall Most Favorable Time to Plant Lilies
The best time to plant lilies is in the fall, Stark said. "If you plant them in the spring, they will be in bloom in the summer. If you plant them in the fall, they will be in bloom in the spring."

Simplified Plan of Mastering Numbers For Primary Pupils

Milwaukee—(P)—There won't be any more sing-song "one and one are two, and two and two are four" when Milwaukee's primary pupils go to school this fall. Instead, they will play mathematical games until they reach the third grade, when the serious study of arithmetic will get under way.

A simplified system of mastering numbers was worked out by a committee headed by assistant superintendent Paul B. Clemens and announced today.

Beginning pupils merely memorized combinations of numbers without understanding why two and two added up to four, explained Miss Florence Kelly, supervisor of primary projects. Under the new "play" system, pupils will keep score in games, operate stores, and work out building projects—the whole designed to drive home the values of numbers.

75 Million Trees Growing in Four State Nurseries

Planting Program Expanding Steadily in Wisconsin, Park Chief Reports

More than 75,000,000 trees, enough to plant 100,000 acres of land, are now growing in four state nurseries in Wisconsin Rapids, Trout Lake, Gordon, and Athelstone, according to C. L. Harrington, state superintendent of forests and parks. The Wisconsin Rapids nursery, largest in the state, alone has 59,000,000 young trees in its beds.

Extensive tree planting operations have been carried on in Outagamie and Waupaca counties. State-grown trees are all of the coniferous varieties, white, Norway, jack, and Scotch pines, and white and Norway spruce.

This is the high point of production of nursery stock by the state and is by far the greatest number of trees ever produced by the department," Harrington says.

Nine-thousand acres in the state were planted with trees last year. The increase in tree production at the nurseries is in line with the conservation department's plan to widen even more the planting program on state and county lands.

Although a small percentage of the nurseries' production is used for shelterbelt purposes, most of the state tree program is pointing towards forest restoration. The trees, set out when only a few years old, are not suited for ornamental planting.

Benefit Wild Life
Where adequate protection from fires is afforded, most Wisconsin lands re-seed themselves to trees. Nursery stock provides a more valuable use for planting than the natural reproduction that comes after a land has been cut over. Better types of trees cannot, of course, grow unless seed has been left.

Besides its forest tree nursery program, the conservation department is running a special nursery for the production of millions of trees and shrubs that produce food and cover for birds. These are to be set out as a benefit for wild life. It is hoped that this program will eventually cut down on the amount of winter feeding of birds done by the department and various conservation clubs throughout the state.

Number of Family Workers on Farms Lower in August

Total for Hired Men No Higher Than Last Year, Crop Reporters Tell Agent

While the number of hired men on Wisconsin farms during August was about the same as a year ago, the number of family workers was slightly lower, according to reports received from crop reporters by R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural adjustment agent. The number of family workers on farms in Wisconsin usually reaches its high point in July and August, Swanson said.

With the opening of schools in September, the number of family farm workers declines sharply, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture.

Wages paid to hired farm workers this year are averaging about 18 per cent higher than last year, in Wisconsin, the reports show. In July, workers hired by the month with board were receiving $34.25 compared with $29.00 a year ago. Workers hired by the day with board were receiving $1.70 compared with $1.45 a year ago. Corresponding increases were noted in the wages of farm workers hired without board.

Crop reporters for the United States indicate that for the country as a whole the number of hired workers last month was somewhat larger than a year ago, but the number of family workers for the country was also lower. The greatest decline reported in family workers was in the cotton belt of the south. In the northeastern states where weather has been favorable for haying, harvesting, and threshing, the employment during the past month increased somewhat more than it usually does at that time of the year.

8 Cent Increase in Per Capita Return From Liquor Taxes

Appleton Will Get About $14,000 as Its Share of Beverage Money

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—State treasury officials, local government, school administrators, and perhaps most of all the real estate taxpayers in Wisconsin communities are going to have an easier time of it this year, all because Wisconsin's citizens are consuming more beer and liquor this year than in previous years.

For the beverage tax division of the state treasury this year is collecting 58 cents in taxes on beer and liquor for every man, woman and child in the state, compared with 48 cents per capita a year ago, and about half that sum three years ago.

In general, collections of both liquor taxes and malt beverage taxes are running well ahead of last year, when the two levies netted almost $6,000,000.

Increases are attributed to the increased consumption of liquor and malt beverages, the increase in distillery and brewery production along with general industrial advances.

The first $150,000 of beverage tax division income after payment of collection costs, about four cents on a dollar, is used as a special aid to elementary public schools and public high schools.

Remaining net funds are distributed twice a year to cities, towns and villages in proportion to their population to be used by them to reduce the tax on general property.

According to present indications, Green Bay, for example, will get roughly $20,000, while Appleton should receive about $14,000.

New Attendance Record For Visitors of Quints

Callander, Ontario—(Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets were seen during August by 136,660 persons—approximately 19,000 more than in July. Daily showing of the quintuplets will be reduced from two hours to one hour, starting Sept. 12, their doctor, Dr. A. E. Defoe, announced today. They will be seen in their nursery playground from 9:30 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 2:30 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Attendance of visitors dropped somewhat last week, probably due to the infantile paralysis epidemic in Ontario, the opening of the Canadian National exhibition and reopening of schools.

There has been no infantile paralysis in Callander.

Rush Iron Lung to Denver to Protect Lives of 2 Girls

Denver—Dr. T. L. Williams, deputy county health commissioner, said today an "iron lung" will be shipped from Chicago to Denver to avoid the possible necessity of leaving one of two girl paralysis victims without its life-giving treatment.

The doctor said he was informed by telephone that the Chicago American, a Hearst newspaper, had obtained the respirator from a Dr. Fisher in Chicago.

"The American told me they will send it out immediately by plane if they can get the machine into a plane. If not, they will send it on one of the high speed trains leaving Chicago late today."

Doctors attending the girls had been considering this dilemma. "What choice should be made if the exclusive use of the respirator becomes necessary to prolong the life of one of the patients?"

While Shirley Krause, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krause, was receiving treatment in the respirator yesterday Maybelle Outalt, 15, was rushed to the hospital, her chest muscles affected by paralysis. Each was placed in the cabinet for short periods and, for the time being, Dr. Nels Vicklund said every effort would be made to save the girls by the alternate treatment.

Federal Fish Program Has Boosted Prices

Washington—(AP)—Officials who directed the government's fish purchases this summer said today the program had increased prices received by fishermen and created potential new market outlets for the industry.

Congress provided $1,000,000 for the special fish buying campaign after officials said surplus storage stocks of fish were depressing the market.

Spokesmen for the federal surplus commodities corporation said nearly the entire $1,000,000 was expended in purchasing 12,500,000 pounds of fish that were given to relief agencies in 26 states for free distribution to needy.

A summary of purchases showed $210,891 pounds were bought in Massachusetts. Other purchases by states included: Illinois, 104,809; Michigan, 63,000; Wisconsin, 30,150; and Minnesota, 22,500.

Here's What to Do if You Lose Your Way in a Forest

1. Send out an SOS—three signals in quick succession repeated at regular intervals. You can do this by...

A. Blowing a whistle. If you haven't one with you, use your lips.

B. Sending up smoke signals. If there's no danger of a forest fire, there's a blanket or coat.

C. Using a mirror to flash sun signals.

D. Building three small fires in a row. If it's night, or...

E. Turning a light on and off three times in succession.

The National Forest Service approves all these methods but is trying to make whistling the standard call for help. It urges persons to carry a whistle when they go into the woods. The whistle is light to carry, far more penetrating and less exhausting than vocal calls.

The insistent regularity of the signals, no matter how given, will distinguish them from casual calls, says the Forest Service. But they must not be used except when help is absolutely required. For anyone hearing them is morally obligated to either go himself or send aid. The person lost is expected to stand the cost of rescue.

When a person hears the SOS, he should acknowledge it with the customary railroad "all clear" of two signals—possible, by the same medium the sender is using.

The rescue party should keep repeating the two signals and the person in trouble should answer with the three to facilitate discovery.

Farm Tenancy Funds Go Chiefly to South

Washington—The government will sprinkle only a few of its dollars over midwest states in its first effort to curtail farm tenancy but a virtual rain of federal funds will hit the south, where tenancy is more prevalent.

The $10,000,000 set aside by congress for this purpose has not been allocated yet. Secretary Wallace has said he will announce the administrative board on tenancy soon, possibly next week.

Funds will be allotted to states on the basis of farm population and the prevalence of tenancy. Tentative estimates on this basis would give Minnesota $215,292, Wisconsin $133,147 and North Dakota $104,223.

Each of the three states—Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota—has more than 500,000 acres of land which the resettlement administration believes should be devoted to uses other than crop farming.

North Dakota's sub-marginal land is tentatively estimated at 2,245,000 acres; Minnesota's at 668,000, and Wisconsin's at 754,000 acres.

Use of Radio Equipment Has O. K. of Governor

LaFollette, chairman W. F. Collins of the Portage county board was informed today.

Commissioner Charles L. Hill of the department of agriculture and markets notified Collins that subject to the approval of the emergency board, the department will recommend that the station be turned over to the counties without cost and that to maintain and use the station, premises and remaining equipment for short wave broadcasting cooperatively owned and managed by the counties.

Hill said that there will be no question about the emergency board giving its approval.

have threatened the lifeline road-way link between Madrid and Valencia.

A Valencia ministry of defense communique related that the forces below Teruel at the southern tip of the Aragon front had captured several dominant positions by swift assault with the aid of artillery barrage.

An entire squadron of insurgent cavalry was reported wiped out by artillery fire on the road between Torremocha and Celajas, northwest of Teruel, after government troops had been dislodged from a hill at Santa Eulalia.

An insurgent communique asserted, however, that Franco's men had broken "all resistance" in their counter-drive at Belchite and elsewhere on the Aragon front.

An insurgent radio broadcast said 13,500 government militiamen had been killed in the week-old Aragon push. Nearly the same number had been taken prisoner, it was said.

Flying Pied Piper Is Facing Rat Problem

Olean, N. Y.—A flying fitter who boasts he broke up a sparrow scourge at neighboring Perry, N. Y., by sprinkling salt on their tails and whistling at them from the sky, scratched his head today and wondered what he could do about rats at Princeton, N. Y.

Russ Brinkley, radio breakfast clubber who can fly an airplane with one hand and toot a flute with the other, said a Princeton fraternity house renovator had asked him to scare off a rat infestation.

He brandished a plea from Julius Curto which said so many old buildings were being razed near the university campus that rats were seeking shelter in Greek-letter lodges.

Brinkley zoomed 80 miles over to Perry yesterday afternoon and sent a brown cloud of sparrows scurrying out of the village maple trees.

Ends Engagement Because of Dummy

Hollywood—(AP)—Judy Canova, hillbilly singer, today broke her engagement to Ventriloquist Edgar Bergen, blaming dummy Charlie McCarthy for the cooling of a three-year romance. She said she didn't like "playing second fiddle" to the woodenheaded little fellow that Bergen made into a radio favorite.

"It's an obsession with Eddie," she added. "He thinks and talks of nothing but Charlie."

Bergen and the Pensacola, Fla., comedienne, first met in New York. Since both came to Hollywood, he has been her constant escort.

Their estrangement came to light when Miss Canova balked at plans for posing with Bergen for a studio photographer.

"Eddie can stuff his old dummy in his trunk and get in with him," she announced, apparently on the verge of tears.

Court Fight Hindrance to Congress, Schneider Says

The last session of congress which Congressmen George J. Schneider has labeled "do-nothing" was hindered by "reactionary forces that were opposed to the court issue and also blocked other progressive legislation," he said today.

"The fight over the supreme court proposal and the long hearings in the senate on the measure held up the house from proceeding with much of its business," Mr. Schneider said. "The controversy extended to other bills and retarded their progress."

The congressman has declared that the recent session of Congress which was adjourned August 21 after eight months was the "worst in 80 years."

The most important legislation which was halted by the controversy over the various issues affected labor and agriculture Schneider stated.

"Most members of congress believe that President Roosevelt will call a special session on or about November 1 for enactment of some farm legislation and consideration of the Black-Connelly wages and hours bill."

Survey Is Made Congress, in an argumentative mood, could not agree on the farm plans offered by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, the congressman pointed out, and as a result, a committee from the senate and house is now making a survey to find out what must be done to meet the most pressing needs of farmers. If a special session is called, the committee's survey will be submitted as the basis for setting up farm legislation.

The Black-Connelly wages and hours bill, which provides for a minimum of 40 cents an hour and a 40-hour week, was not voted on during the last session, but if the special November session is called, it will come before the legislators.

"Many bills, of course, were passed during the last session, but not those uppermost in the minds of congressmen," Schneider stated. "And congress did not do what was expected in view of the mandate it was given at the last election."

Panneck Chiropractic Clinic

Chiropractic was unknown until 1895 when it was brought to light by D. D. Palmer, a magnetic healer, of Davenport, Iowa. He gave the first Chiropractic adjustment to Harvey Lillard. This was the beginning of the greatest healing science of all ages. The Palmer School of Chiropractic is the Mother School. It is the Fountain Head.

B. J. Palmer, the only son of D. D. Palmer is the head of the School. Dr. Palmer is the last and final word in all the courts of the United States as to what Chiropractic is and what it is not. I have attended a review course at the Palmer School. I have been trained under the Master of Chiropractic. I give you that which he taught me, the latest and highest stage of development in this work.

Chiropractic teaches that the cause of health and disease is within the body. Health being the perfect transmission of nerve impulse, function, life between the brain and organs, and Disease is caused by interference with the life, function or nerve impulse between Brain and organs. Chiropractic further teaches that subluxated vertebrae causes impingement on pressure on spinal fibers or nerves, thereby interrupting the flow of nerve impulse and predisposing the body to disease. Therefore in order to bring about health in the body, it is of prime importance to establish normal transmission of impulse over the nerves by locating with scientific instruments the place of interference in the spine and adjusting or setting the vertebra back to normal and health will result. Many of those hearing of my HIO method of Chiropractic will eventually come to my Clinic and get well, just as you will find in case history reports No. 98. Hay Fever. Entered our Clinic Aug. 1935. This lady was in a desperate nervous condition. Her facial bones and nose and eyes badly inflamed and tender. Every coming here she declared for a period of one year, with no improvement. She came to this Clinic as a last resort, and asked if we could help her. She was informed that results we have been having with such cases, and put herself under my personal supervision. In five weeks the case was dismissed as our instruments indicated that the correction in her neck was made. All symptoms were subsided, and at the present time no recurrence of Hay Fever.

The public library, the council rooms, city clerk's and treasurer's rooms and a large fireproof vault are on the first floor. The justice court room, a lodge room, large assembly room and a kitchen occupy the second floor and the police officers' room and jail are in the basement. The janitor's quarters are on the first floor to the rear. A large addition to the east of the building is given over to the fire department and a city garage. All rooms are large and spacious and well lighted. The building is air-conditioned.

The Chilton Woman's club, which, seeing the necessity for a public library, took steps towards its organization. Mrs. Walter Reif, the then president of the Woman's club appointed committees in October, 1932, to go ahead with the project, and after three months in organizing, the library was opened to the public Jan. 21, 1933, in the north end of the furniture department of the Johnson and Hill Co. store. The space for the library was donated through the courtesy of J. P. Hanley, manager of the store, where it continued to operate until it was moved to the city hall this week. The library was started with 750 volumes donated by the people; 100 volumes were a gift from the Wisconsin Free Library commission, and was open on Wednesday and Saturday evening. Mrs. Earl Groetzing and Mrs. Arthur Imm were librarians. While the Woman's club sponsored the project the library operates under the control of the library board which has full charge of the institution. Mrs. Earl Groetzing, Mrs. W. J. McHale, G. M. Morrissey, William N. Knauf and George M. Goggins were the members of the first board.

Books are available to all residents of the Calumet county. There has been a gradual growth in the number of volumes and readers or borrowers, so that there are now 1,853 volumes and 1,500 active borrowers. The present officers of the board are Mrs. Earl Groetzing, president; Mrs. R. C. Hugo, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. C. M. Goggins, G. M. Morrissey and the Rev. E. L. Hennig.

GAS, GERMS, BULLETS AND BAYONETS

Not long ago two Frenchmen were caught in Spain and condemned to death for spreading typhoid and sleeping sickness germs among the Rebel forces.

General Franco expressed such indignation over this added virtue of warfare that he postponed the executions, invited representatives of the League of Nations to interview those involved, doubtless because he considered the case was clear and by verifying the facts he could daub the Madrid government with ignominy.

Though General Franco would not hesitate to play actor on the European stage if that might enhance his chance of success, it is not altogether improbable that the indignation he expressed was genuine. The curious kink to the story is that anyone should regard the spreading of disease among enemy troops as barbaric while still justifying equally damnable practices that are inseparably entwined to warfare.

A few weeks ago when President Roosevelt stepped out of his busy way to register a shudder at the inhumanity of poison gas it seemed to the Post-Crescent that the President might find more devilish instruments in war's sordid inventory than gas. We now note an article in the current issue of Harper's Magazine by Major Kernan entitled "In Praise of Poison," upholding the use of poisonous gasses in warfare.

It is odd, to say the least, that we denounce anyone in a death grapple for running his thumb in his foe's eye but applaud him when he chokes his enemy to death or crushes in his chest with his knee.

Keeping our eye on the target or object of the clash we find war instituted for the purpose of bringing the opposition to agreement or into subjection. Spreading germs among troops is certainly one way of bringing the soldiers down. Why is it any worse than spreading bullets? And if bullets are permissible why is not poison in the form of gas?

Distinctions are made by people who have physical qualms at the thought of the cruelty of planted poisons. But the disturbance is just the goose-flesh that comes to some while others endure the same conditions without noticeable effect.

Gas, we fear, received its black eye largely because the doctors who treated cases of gas poisoning had rare literary ability and pictured consequences that no one can dispute in a way that moved sympathetic humanity to condemn.

"We had rarely witnessed such suffering and distress as these patients manifested, with skin burned and discolored, eyes swollen shut, spasms of choking, vomiting and struggling for breath; with the lungs literally drowned by their own secretions, they writhed in pain until they became unconscious from want of oxygen."

Trying to vision a stalwart fellow suffering excruciating torture from gas poison is likely to lead us away from facts and truth into the realm of illusion and emotion. The trouble is largely, we fear, the newness of gas coupled with the fact that we take hitherto existing forms of hellishness as granted.

We need plant some physicians with powerful descriptive faculties alongside the coats where rest in their last hours the soldiers with jaw or eye or skull torn by a fragment of shell or him who tosses in delirium from the constant infection that accompanied every bullet, or yet that other one who stopped a bayonet thrust with his Adam's apple or liver.

The discussion should serve to force a closer view of all war practices. They are all abominable. The German idea of making the struggle hideous to make it shorter hardly deserved the unrestrained criticism poured out upon it 20 years ago.

If those who go to war were given a choice of the means by which they were to be laid low typhoid and poison gas would be found more popular than a bayonet or even a hand grenade.

"COUNTRY DOCTOR"

In Byron, little valley town in Illinois, hundreds of persons gathered recently to watch the unveiling of a plaque affixed to a boulder on the school lawn.

The scene is common. Townsfolk gather for ceremonies that commemorate events in local history or attest the esteem in which individuals are held.

Such events ordinarily attract scant attention. County seat newspapers report them half columns, larger dailies tuck the reports of the happenings in inside pages.

Byron's ceremony stirred nation-wide interest.

The reason: Byron's townsfolk bared heads while tributes were paid the memory of a "country doctor."

Grandfathers, their sons and grandsons, all brought into the world by Dr. Craig Stewart Thomson, were in the audience. In his years of practice, the "country doctor" had delivered 1,740 babies. Byron's population is about half that number.

The doctor, scornful new-fangled motors, had kept his horse and buggy until the last. He had died beneath the wheels of a speeding train while hurrying to the bedside of a patient.

Metropolitan dailies retold the story of the "country doctor" and of the ceremony that friends had arranged to express a community's love.

Who can know how many persons, reading their newspapers, paused to think for a moment about a "country doctor" they once knew?

In some measure, Byron's ceremonies expressed the sentiments of millions of persons, city dwellers and villagers and farm folk, alike. The "country doctor" ordinarily does not make headline news. He goes about his business and is content to let the rewards of public acclaim go to his more fashionable confreres in the cities.

Many a city dweller, however, reading about the Illinois ceremony, must have remembered his own beginnings, and the kindly man who was confidant and friend in the community of his boyhood.

Byron's "country doctor" was one among many professional men whose lives have been charted in quiet courses.

SACCO-VANZETTI PROPAGANDA

The offer to Massachusetts of a bronze memorial to Sacco and Vanzetti, two Reds executed for a double murder ten years ago, furnishes concrete evidence of the determination of men, some with soft minds and some with criminal tendencies, to so present their worthless propaganda as to achieve their stubborn purpose, however mistaken or even false that purpose may be. It is at best a whimsical prank.

The Sacco-Vanzetti trial was a bout in which a lawyer should emerge as the hero, or villain as you please, even ahead of the defendants, however certainly they may be classified.

Sacco and Vanzetti were so guilty, and the evidence became piled so high that it was necessary in their defense,—and there is no limit to what a man may do in defense of killers,—to make some unusually bold and sky-screaming moves. Since the defendants had been recognized by more than one witness to the hold-up who identified them in court, and since the gun that sent two men to their grave prematurely was found upon Sacco, here was a case that required Napoleonic strategy. So the defendants' lawyer asked the court the privilege of proving the defendants lived restless, furtive lives and carried firearms because they were fearful of their lives, believing their Communist preachings would invite attack.

That is the extent of the "Red baiting" to which these miscreants were subjected.

Otherwise they had the customary American trial. A conviction by the unanimous action of twelve men. An approval of the verdict by the trial judge. The unanimous action of the Supreme Court that the trial had been open, fair, and aboveboard. A painstaking review by motions for new trials upon newly discovered evidence plus a similar review by the governor who called to his aid a special commission of high minded citizens. Covering about a dozen different decisions made by juries, judges, chief executive, and commissions, there was unanimous refusal to interfere with the decree of death, but technicalities were brushed aside and the men went to their doom because they were believed guilty by all those responsible agencies.

Partisans love to try important cases on the street corners. They are not so keen in bringing claimed evidence into that arena where it may be pawed over and examined minutely.

Some have hoped that Red sympathizers might build up heroes of better human clay than these aliens who shot good men down ruthlessly in order to grab a payroll.

But the Red sympathizers with all different propaganda are hewing more closely to the line than they think.

They are erecting monuments to men who lived by the sweat of others' brows, who loved mankind so dearly they cut down in their prime their own brothers, and in whose behalf at the trial for their lives their own counsel could not find a redeeming fact to present.

Verily, the bronze plaque should be erected in commemoration of Soviet fruits.

Meanwhile, there crashes through the ether constantly a propaganda as ridiculous as it is false.

It is estimated that an acre of meadowland will contain on the average about 15,000,000 insects.

Henry Ford, William Randolph Hearst and David Lloyd-George are all the same age, 74.

Johann Sebastian Bach is especially noted for his work in counterpoint.

Names to be inscribed in the Hall of Fame in New York are chosen every five years.

IF President Roosevelt continues to run into trouble, not all the difficulty will be attributed to his stubbornness, his tactics, and his opponents. . . part of it will have to be credited to his family. . . witness the recent interview in Paris with Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, his mother. . . Mamma R. in a 45 minute interview with a member of a reputable news agency (the United Press) said that her son would not consider running for a third term. . . she was quite insistent on the point. . . then, later, she was quoted as calling the story "absolutely untrue" and insisted that she knew nothing about the president's plans. . . well, which is it? . . .

France, however, seems to be a standard spot for denials by the Roosevelt family. Young John R. and the episode with the bottle of champagne and the French mayor produced its share of denials.

Loud indeed will be the denials of boxing experts who insisted it was just a matter of which round Joe Louis would put Tommy Farr away. As an admitted non-expert in boxing, my half-baked comments can be excused on the grounds that I was merely following public opinion.

Much of the audience wallop in this fight came after the fifteenth round when, in the background of the radio interviews, was the steady roar of booing people. Farr gave himself a terrific build-up in this fight, and if money is one of his principal objects, he is getting pretty well set to earn lots of it.

EVEN THE BEST FRIENDS

"It was darned hot yesterday and yet I couldn't understand why people wouldn't stick around except for a few minutes. And it wasn't for an hour that I realized that I had slipped off the shoes as a concession to the weather."

Some people just can't take it.

The Newspaper Guild has never approached your correspondent to sign up and kick in, and the chances are it won't. Just the same, if the NG can show me how a newspaperman gets his work done on days when it's 90 and better without doing any work, I will sign up like that (snap of fingers) and shout the praises of John Lewis.

Otherwise the NG can keep its own darned distance.

I can understand why the contributors leave me alone at times like this. If I were Zeke Sodbuster, for example, and Zeke had this job, he would be doing all the work.

It looks as though Louis has his good fights on alternate occasions. He should be a terror in the next one.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE HAPPY LONG AGO
 The happy long ago is mine
 To treasure and to love.
 No matter what today's design
 Of loveliness may prove.

I think of friends I will not see
 Again upon this earth.
 And feel their spirits close to me,
 And know their friendship's worth.

I love the old-time memories,
 And treasure every word
 And all the tuneful melodies
 A little girl, once heard.

The happy long ago! How glad
 I am that not in vain
 I dream of happiness I had
 That will not come again!

Personal Health Talks

SIMPLE CHRONIC RHINITIS

Simple chronic rhinitis formerly lived with constipation and dental caries for the distinction of being the most common complaint. I have a vague impression, without significant statistics to support it, that there is less simple chronic rhinitis today than there was thirty years ago. I do not think this is due to the more frequent diagnosis of "sinusitis" today, but rather it is my general observation that young children are not so frequently subject to chronic sniffles as children were a generation ago. I would attribute this to the gradually improving hygiene of the home. Slowly but surely the light is permeating the home and many of the old superstitions regarding ventilation, drafts, heating, exposure, dampness and going out without excessive clothing are fading. I am an optimist. I do not expect to see good hygiene everywhere until the last of the old guard in medicine passes away. But I am confident it won't be long now. Anyway, in spite of the old guard, nearly everybody now knows that at least some alleged "colds" are caused by infection. That's progress, considering.

Characteristic manifestations of simple chronic rhinitis or "nasal catarrh" are: (1) nose becomes stuffy with trifling environmental changes, change of clothes, draft, dampness, etc.; (2) excessive nasal discharge; (3) victim generally insists he takes cold easily; (4) in fact all the symptoms he calls "cold" clear away and are forgotten in an hour or two when the customary environment is restored; (5) first one side, then the other side of the nose seems nearly or quite stopped up, whenever the victim tests by up, whenever the nostrils closed, breathing with one nostril closed.

Simple chronic rhinitis commonly accompanies adenoid and tonsil enlargement in children. Both cause and effect call for more vitamin D. In my judgment, just my personal opinion. Some good doctors and research workers hold the same opinion. Most of the old guard will reject it as a durned newfangled notion. There are various ways to get more vitamin D, and more will never hurt child or adult, so it is at least worth trying before you rush into the operating room under the supervision of your old guard practitioner. There is a little, but only a little, to be had in fresh whole milk, cream, butter, egg yolk and fresh or canned salmon. Cod, haddock or other percomorphi, in fact all sea fish liver oils and the body oils of vitamin D. Synthetic vitamin D, produced by irradiating ergosterol in various foods with ultraviolet light of certain wavelengths, is in all respects equivalent to natural vitamin D, unit for unit, so far as I can learn, and much less repugnant to take, for synthetic vitamin D is practically tasteless, and may be taken in a bland oil solution, each drop of which contains 300 units of vitamin D, or in a vitamin D inhalant which is taken by simply dropping a drop or two in each nostril twice a day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Medicine Making Rapid Strides
 In a pamphlet distributed by the American Medical Association I read that a well known surgeon treating hernia because it requires considerable time and hence is unsuited for patients who come from a distance as it would require them to remain away from home for quite a while. (T. S. A.)

Answer—You must have got hold of some ancient stuff. The American Medical Association has recently recognized the value of the injection method and even published some articles on the technic in its official Journal.

Varicose Veins And Varicose Ulcers
 You have offered advice several times about varicose veins, but I have never seen anything about varicose ulcers in your column. I have had one on my leg for six years and it has never quite healed. (G. C. B.)

Answer—Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for instructions for treatment of varicose veins or varicose ulcers. It is generally necessary to treat the underlying varicose vein or at least employ measures to counteract the impaired circulation in the leg, in order to heal the ulcer.

Enlarged Thymus
 Newborn infant lived only a few hours. Autopsy report ascribed death to enlarged thymus gland. (Mrs. G. F.)

Answer—X-ray examination of series of young infants showed enlarged thymus gland in a large number, whether the infants had any apparent trouble attributable to such a condition or not. Frankly nobody knows what enlargement of the thymus in the young infant signifies. X-ray treatments purport to cause the enlarged gland to reduce to something like "normal" size; but possibly the large thymus naturally undergoes such change in the course of weeks or months, whether treatment is used or not. What medicine has not yet learned about the thymus gland will fill large books some day.

Your Birthday

"VERGO"
 If September 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m. from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight.

Acting on one's own responsibility, in matters involving the interests of someone else, may prove to be an inadvisable task, today. Give free rein to your tongue and trouble will probably follow. Indecision may lead to half-way measures being taken to correct mistakes, errors of judgment, or some injustice, with the consequence that the final outcome is apt to be disappointing. Give every one who is rightfully theirs, without restriction, and without fear of criticism, if you expect to have a thoroughly satisfactory day. It will be advisable to ascertain if the time you might select for some social activity will be convenient for whoever is expected to participate in it. Lack of consideration of the average person's time today, is a fault that must be avoided, for an evidence of resentment is likely to be most apparent. Married and engaged couples, as well as those planning a matrimonial future together, will be wise to remember that an embarrassing question seldom produces a satisfactory reply, so it is a good policy not to ask it.

If a woman, and September 2 is your birthday, you may have or will discover some method of working out your personal problems, in a highly satisfactory manner. You ought to have an exceptionally good mind, which is susceptible to being developed along cultural lines. Be careful not to clog it with the residue of accumulations gathered through the indiscriminate selection of books. People born on this date ought to select their literature and friends with the greatest of care. You must also take an active interest in social activities if you are to make the proper progress along progressive lines. As an actress, artist, teacher, business woman, author, or librarian, your future ought to be assured. All of your matrimonial prospects indicate your married life will be a success.

The child born on September 2, may during its school days, show an aptitude for only certain lines of study, in which it is likely to excel. A liberal education will probably be gained more from outside contacts, than the classroom's prosaic routine.

If a man, and September 2 is your natal day, your ability to rise above reverses, should enable you to succeed. As a clergyman, author, actor, mechanic, inventor, lawyer, architect, educator, or commercial agent, you have great expectations.

Successful People Born on September 2:

Eugene Field, journalist and poet. Anna Whitney, sculptor of Boston. Murat Halstead, journalist.

John B. White, artist.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Coming off a late junket the other night, I passed the mortuary where the body of "Legs" Diamond's kid brother was taken after that van, emaciated young man passed away.

There is a fantastic story attached to this occasion, although it may not be nearly so fantastic as it seems. At the time, "Legs" was badly wanted by the police "as when wasn't he?", and a cordon of detectives was thrown about the place in hope that he would decide to drop by for a last farewell.

They didn't catch him, although it is believed that he was there. They say "Legs" successfully passed through the lines, disguised as a priest, and knelt unmolested at his brother's bier.

Emery Deutsch's orchestra begins each medley with a mournful wail of the reeds which seems to me the very epitome of despair.

Kay Parsons, whose Show Boat plies up the Hudson each sundown, was accused recently of imbibing too freely some of that Gordon's water that they sell in the stubs.

"Who? Me?" ejaculated Kay. "That wasn't hootch. That's the rolling gait I've acquired after being aboard ship so long."

Most bandmen occasionally go in for college songs, but the medley featured by Ozzie Nelson is the most extensive yet hatched together. The tunes and battle-cries of more than a hundred college campuses are wafted to the delighted ears of Astor-not crowds.

A little investigation explains Ozzie's enthusiasm for such—he used to be a halfback himself. . . . Rutgers!

Castanets—those wooden things which Spanish dancers clack in their hands—does anybody know how they began? There ought to be a romantic story there somewhere. Mona Montes, the shapely sorceress who divides her time between the Met Opera ball and El Chico, says she knows the whole romantic legend of the castanet. . . . I'm going down and get it. . . . I see where a colleague, scribbling of nightlife and such, announces that Mona is the pret-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Shock troops of the court opposition do not take seriously Postmaster General Farley's assurance of "no reprisals" against defaulting Democrats.

They expect the administration to try to take the political breach—off those Democratic senators—and house members—who had a part in defeating the court bill. They believe that when wheelhorse Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania singled out Senators Wheeler of Montana, Burke of Nebraska, O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Holt of West Virginia as possible subjects of a "purge," he was speaking with administration knowledge, if not indorsement. Farley flatly denied such was the case, telling a press conference that Guffey was speaking only for himself.

These anti-court shock troops including progressive Republicans among their number, expect to come to the rescue of any beleaguered Democratic members under administration fire. But there is a hitch.

Support Is A Handicap

The principal opportunity of administration forces to damage Democratic senators or representatives comes during the primary or convention. Then is when charges of disloyalty to the president can be used against them. The anti-court Democratic members cannot look for support from independents and progressive Republicans then. These will be voting in other primaries, if at all, or sharing in conventions of other parties.

And in this trying hour, the support of progressive Republicans, for instance, might be well might fatal. Nothing can hurt a candidate as a primary more than to have support of a rival political party.

For instance, if Republican progressives who opposed the court bill should announce that they were going to work for the nomination of Senator Van Nuys of Indiana, a Democrat, it could just about be the end of all things political for Van Nuys, a court bill opponent. And already the wolves are after Van Nuys. Governor Townsend of Indiana came from a conference with the president a few days back and said the people of Indiana would not support the senator.

The result is that these Republican progressives who might like to support such men as Van Nuys must lie low during the toughest battle. Of course, after the nominating primaries and conventions, they might offer help where needed.

When former President Hoover said public support should be given to Democratic as well as Republican members of congress who had opposed the court bill, it sent shivers of dismay down the back of Democratic court-foes. It was an "experiment noble in purpose" which promised to do them no good at all. Fortunately they hoped Hoover would continue silently fishing in the Pacific northwest, or silently doing something else.

Gilbert Miller is busy with a crop of new manuscripts, which he is soon to cast about in the theaters. . . . Of all Miller legends, the one concerning the late Edgar Wallace remains funniest.

Wallace, it seems, was complaining bitterly about being refused complimentary tickets to one of Miller's shows.

Miller rushed to him. "Ah," he cried. "There is some mistake. You are always welcome to our theaters. It is only your plays that we want to keep out!"

Activities on City Playgrounds Near Close for Summer

Increased Popularity of Tennis Was Feature of Season's Program

Kaukauna—With activities at the city playgrounds drawing to a close for the summer yesterday, Clifford Kemp, recreational director, took time out to review the summer season.

Yesterday's scheduled softball game, a rubber game of a series between the Kimberly and Kaukauna junior boys, was forfeited by Kimberly to Kaukauna.

Outstanding in the summer activities was the increased popularity of tennis, ordinarily a weak sister in Kaukauna sports. Softball, hardball, horseshoe and basketball formed other parts of the sports program.

Jerome Parman was high school tennis champion for the third straight year, with Kathryn Van Lieshout girls' champion.

Won Junior Title
Herman Franz was the junior boys' champion, defeating Bill Van Lieshout in a close final match. Bob Nagan and Art Koehn were the tennis doubles champs, beating Bob Cooper and Lee Lambie in the finals.

Hardball enjoyed a new high in popularity when added to the program for the second half of the summer. Three games were played with the Kimberly hardball players. Some of the outstanding players, picked for their hitting, sportsmanship, speed and size, were Willie Ranquette, third baseman, Steve Andrejeski, catcher, and Lee Lambie, first base. Other good diamond prospects developed were J. Schuman, second baseman, Cliff Van-evenhoven, shortstop, Charles Egan, outfielder, Warren Alger, outfielder, Bill Alger, first baseman, and Robert Van Drasek, pitcher.

When superlatives were named in the various phases of playground activity Johnny Reed was found to have the most freckles, with Bill Alger designated the biggest beaver. Mickey Walsh giggled the most, Leo Van DeLoe was the smallest player, and Herman Franz the biggest around the middle. Jim Sanders was named the sleepest. Karl C. Kobussen the swankiest and Jim Reagan the biggest smoothie.

Lead in Hardball
In senior hardball George Hurst had the best team in the league, with Warren Alger pitching and Steve Andrejeski catching. In junior hardball Don Reichel's outfit won first place, defeating Nick Steffen's Sox in the playoff. Johnny Reed pitched and Terry McLaughlin caught for Reichel's Cubs.

In softball Harold Walsh's team won the senior league title, with Bill Alger doing the pitching and Steve Andrejeski catching. Don Reichel's Cubs won the softball championship also in the junior league. Reichel pitched and Darryl Ristau caught.

Horseshoe champions were named in various divisions, Mike Niecz winning the competition for boys under 12, with Rainy Van Dalen the champ for boys between 13 and 15 and Jack Niecz winning the contest for boys over 16. Doubles champions were Gerald Derus and Mike Niecz against the entire field.

Cliff Kappell proved unbeatable in checkers and took the championship.

Play Basketball
Basketball was a little difficult to work in with the other sports program, but it was played for about two weeks in junior and senior divisions, with most of the games pick-up affairs. Lee Lambie was picked as the playground's outstanding player.

Swimming was done at the city pool, at the fourth government lock, and at the quarry. Gene Driessen, Ves Hanby, and Harvey Derus worked as life guards at the outdoor places.

More girls than boys came to the swimming pool in the Municipal building, but the boys outnumbered the girls at the outdoor places. High day in attendance was Wednesday, July 7, when 250 girls swam in the municipal pool.

Ironwork Arrives for Roof on Central Block
Kaukauna—Ironwork for the roof of Central block, downtown business building, badly damaged by fire in March, arrived here yesterday in preparation for the rebuilding of the roof. Workmen have the second floor prepared and scaffolding ready for the construction of the roof, which was completely burned away in the blaze.

Finish Work on Tenth Street Sewer Project
Kaukauna—Painting of the pump house on the sewage pump on the new Tenth street sewer project yesterday completed work on the construction of one block of pipe line. The line is now in operation, connecting the Tenth street addition pipe lines with the main city system at Crooks avenue. Sewage of this district formerly flowed into a cesspool.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. James Lang is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Pantry, Thilmany Teams Play Series For League Pennant

Kaukauna—The first of a three game series for the championship of the Twilight softball league between the Pantry Lunch and Thilmany teams will be played at 5:30 this afternoon at the library grounds. Enroll for 2-Year Course at Normal

Current Registration Up to Expectations. Principal Reports

Kaukauna—Enrollment so far at the Outagamie Rural Normal school is up to expectations. Walter P. Hagman, principal, said yesterday. Most of those registered are taking the first year's work, with several taking the second year's.

Those students entering this year will take a two-year course in place of the one year course formerly offered. After graduation students may enter state teachers' colleges, take a two year course there, and receive their degree.

The two-year course introduced this year has been offered in other counties for several years. The new course will be state-wide beginning this year, being introduced in all county normal schools.

The inaugurating of the two-year course this year means a re-alignment of the entire curriculum, with much of the course being placed on a college level. The school year will be divided into two 18-week semesters, eliminating the quarter system. The year will take 38 weeks, allowing a week for cadet work and a week for final examinations. Commencement will be held about the same time as other schools.

New Fires Rage In Shanghai as Japanese Attack

Hongkew sector at the north of the international area.

Eight Japanese ships heavily laden with troops and supplies arrived at Woosung from Japan. Escorted by warships, one of the transport vessels steamed up the Whangpoo and landed reinforcements.

The Lofien sector 12 miles northwest of Shanghai, Chinese regulars held their own against Japanese attacks. Chinese military sources said the Japanese there suffered heavy losses.

Despite the bitter fighting about the city the Shanghai municipal council relaxed its curfew ordinance. The time for evacuating streets at night was extended from 10 P. M. to 11:30.

Plan Air Raids

Japanese threatened meanwhile to accelerate the spread of the undeclared war, steadily engulfing all of sprawling China. Japanese naval commanders said they were prepared to launch air raids against all Chinese airbases and military bases. Yesterday, Japanese planes bombed such bases in the far south, around Canton.

Japanese advisers from the north indicated an imminent major battle at the important Yellow River barrier to central China. An irregular Chinese army was reported to be waiting with overwhelming numbers for two Japanese columns, pressing south from Tientsin and Peiping, with Superior armaments and equipment.

Chinese reports, however, declared the highly mobile Japanese army was bogged in North China's rainy season mud and still on the defensive against Chinese rear and flank attacks.

(As the United States Dollar liner President Hoover, scarred by a Chinese aerial attack at sea, reached Kobe with a seaman killed and passengers and sailors wounded, high officials at Washington intimated that a naval order closing the port of Shanghai to American merchantmen would be lifted.

3 More Cruisers

(Informed sources said greater watchfulness of American ships would be established by United States men-of-war but did not expect convoys for merchant shipping. Three new American heavy cruisers were steamed up at San Pedro for a dash to Shanghai.)

Although Washington has invested Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, with wide discretionary powers in the crisis, it was thought the plan would be referred to President Roosevelt before being put into effect.

The Japanese naval authorities further announced that developments might compel their fleet to take stringent action to stop shipments of arms and munitions to China from foreign nations.

"Heavy fighting swept the Whangpoo's banks from the northern edge of the city to Woosung where it meets the Yangtze 12 miles north of the international settlement.

Heavy Chinese Losses

Chinese admitted heavy losses in the Changwang and Paoshan sectors, near Woosung, from heavy Japanese naval shelling and aerial bombardment.

The Chinese were withdrawing slowly to prepared second line positions further inland and out of range of the Japanese naval guns. Japanese claimed that both Woosung proper and the walled city of Paoshan, a few miles up the Yangtze, had been stormed and captured despite savage Chinese resistance. The Japanese reported they held the historic Woosung forts, often called China's Bunker hill.

In the western sector the Japanese lines, were broken in many places and the determined Chinese resistance prevented the Japanese from solidifying their scattered forces into true front line positions.

This was farther inland where the guns of the Japanese fleet were less effective. Chinese claimed that the Japanese headquarters at Lofien had been demolished and the Japanese brigade commander killed with other members of his staff.

Dawn found the Japanese pounding the strongly held sections of Chapei and Kiangwan with naval guns and air bombs in an effort to drive out the Chinese concentrations.

Huge Chinese Force
Japanese planes ranged over the western sections of Shanghai, blasting at the Chinese communications with Nanking and other interior bases. In the Shanghai-Nanking area Chinese were estimated to have concentrated a quarter of a million troops. Opposed to these Japan was believed to have 100,000 men already landed or waiting to land from transport ships in the Yangtze.

The question of providing naval escorts to guarantee the safe passage of refugee ships was brought to the fore by the bombardment Monday of the liner President Hoover by Chinese warplanes.

The Hoover, flagship of the Dollar line, was enroute to Shanghai to pick up refugees. Admiral Yarnell, however, immediately ordered her to pass up the war-stricken city and shortly afterward issued a joint order with Consul General Clarence Gauss to all American shipping to stay away from Shanghai.

May Provide Escort

This left some 500 American women and children without means of flight and it was thought the American admiral might be considering reopening the port to United States vessels and providing them with escorts until all who wanted to leave Shanghai had been given passage.

Within the French concession, where the majority of the American population lives, conditions rapidly were becoming worse. Simultaneously with the development of several cases of cholera among Chinese refugees, there was an outbreak of typhoid and dysentery.

T. V. Soong, former minister of finance and chairman of the Chinese war loan committee, announced $30,000,000 of China's first $150,000,000 loan had been subscribed.

The bonds bear interest of 4 per cent annually and are redeemable within 30 years beginning in 1941.

BY HALDRE HANSON

Peiping—The Japanese advance on all North China fronts is being effectively held up by determined Chinese resistance 25 miles to the south of Peiping and by torrential rains that have made military operations all but impossible for the highly mechanized Japanese expeditionary force.

For three successive days, now the Japanese army headquarters has announced no decisive change in the war fronts north and south of Peiping.

A force of 12,000 Japanese, striding the Peiping-Hankow railroad in the vicinity of Lianghsiang, 25 miles southwest of here, has been trying for a week to halt a strategic Chinese flanking movement in the western hills.

The Japanese are facing superior strength and their effort to relieve the pressure on their flank is seemingly meeting with but meagre success.

Weather Major Factor

The weather, undoubtedly, is playing a major role in holding up the Japanese drive. Torrential rains have turned all roads into rivers and the fields are stretches of mud. The ordinarily highly mobile Japanese army is literally bogged

Williamson Is Named to Board of Directors at Meeting Last Night

Harry P. Hoeffel, city attorney, was elected president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a regular meeting of the board of directors last night in Hotel Appleton.

Henry Williamson was elected to the board of directors to serve the remainder of the year at last night's session at which it was decided to hold the next regular meeting of the club on Monday night, Sept. 13.

Everett Kirk was named chairman of the program committee for the next meeting and a committee composed of Fred Boughton, Horace L. Davis, Jr., and Kirk was appointed to list all new committees and present them to the board of directors when they convene again next week.

down and unable to take advantage of its obviously superior mechanized units.

Advance units of the opposed armies are in contact on the three major North China fronts but with the possible exception of the long drawn out battle for Nankow pass, 30 miles to the northwest, no major battles in the modern sense have been fought.

There are some 200,000 Chinese troops in southern Hopeh province, divided almost equally into two columns. One is based on Paotingfu, southwest of Peiping; the other is athwart the railroad running south from Tientsin to Pukow in Eastern Hopeh.

These troops include regular divisions of the central army; irregulars and provincial troops that have

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — The years are so short:

I. The company was on location for a romantic western film. It was hot, and the make-up on the actors dripped. It was no place to be unless you had to, but the sublimely haired girl on the sidelines didn't seem to mind the heat or anything. She just sat there and watched her husband go through the motions of being romantic and western.

It was funny in two ways. The husband had made his fame as a witty, quick-on-the-uptake master of ceremonies. He'd probably never met a horse before. The wife was famous on Broadway but in Hollywood they didn't care. They'd tried her once, and decided she was a fizzle. So she sat on the sidelines, adoring, but still not too happy. No actress is happy on the sidelines.

But it wasn't long before Frank Capra fixed that with "Ladies of Leisure" and started Barbara Stanwyck on an upward path recently climaxed by "Stella Dallas."

It wasn't long before Frank Fay had been miscast out of pictures. And it was only a year or so ago that the adoration business declined and Stanwyck didn't take up her option on Fay.

He's still around, doing well enough in radio, and his close friends call him "the most misunderstood guy in Hollywood, a great chap."

And Barbara's going places — in stood the brunt of the intermittent fighting since July 7.

Chinese Well Equipped
The units southwest of Peiping are the best equipped of the Chinese in the north and are favored by terrain best suited to defensive operations. The Japanese commanders expect the stubborn Chinese resistance to be most effective there.

Japanese officers announced that the railroad northwest under their control all the way to Kalgan, 100 miles to the northwest. The Japanese said 70,000 Chinese troops south of the railway were retreating toward Shanxi province and 20,000 in far northern Chahar province had been cut off in the vicinity of Chihcheng.

During the enforced period of waiting for the rainy season to end, Japan has been concentrating thousands of additional troops in North China, both from Manchukuo and the homeland.

II. He strode into his dressing room where I was waiting. He was magnificent in a doublet and hose and his profile was all that it had been pictured in prose and ballad. . . . He was most cordial and picturesque but the swaggy screen roles was abandoned for matter-of-fact ease and a sort of old-shoe comfort. . . . He was graying but he stood straight and looked taller than he was.

Average Player Better Heed Defense Tactics

BY ELY CULBERTSON
As readers of Monday and yesterday's column will recall, I am this week recording the progress of a certain pair through a match-point duplicate game. They eventually won top score, by all odds being the best players in the field, but the field was none too good. During the course of the evening this pair (which I was kibitzing) was handed at least twelve "tops" on a silver platter.

Judging by the evidence of this one evening, the average player had better pay more attention to his defense. North-South continued their "stealing candy from babies" on the following hand:

NORTH
A 8
J 9 6
K Q J 5 3

WEST
A Q
A J 8

SOUTH

K 10 4

The bidding (neither side vulnerable):
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 spade Double
Pass Pass Pass

By the time this board was reached South was riding so high that apparently he could not resist a psychic third hand bid. When the final contract remained one spade doubled, however, I stole a look at South's face and read that this time he feared he had tempted fate too far.

When the diamond king was opened and the dummy went down, I shared his view. It seemed certain that he would never take more than four tricks. This would mean a 500 point penalty and, since the opponents were not vulnerable, such a penalty could hardly be a saving, unless East-West could make a slam. The value of any mere game bid to East-West could not be over 480 or 490 points, since North's spade ace prohibited thirteen tricks. Once more, however, the opponents came to the rescue.

West opened the diamond king and continued with the ace and queen. East discarding clubs on the second and third rounds, West then led the spade queen; dummy's ace won, and the spade eight was returned. East covered with the nine and declarer won. On a low club lead West now jumped up with the ace, and "pumped" the declarer by leading a fourth diamond. East discarded a heart while declarer ruffed with the three of trump. Declarer, who was quite helpless and could only pray for a miracle, laid down the club king. East ruffed and returned a low heart. Declarer's nine lost to the jack and West, who was a great believer in the force game, doggedly led another diamond. East again discarded a heart and declarer gratefully gathered in the trick with the spade six. Declarer now sent the heart queen on an errand of hope. West, delighted at the chance to keep on forcing the declarer, jumped up with the heart ace, and completed his miserable performance by returning his last diamond. East, who now actually had the king and another spade, wisely declarer was down to the spade jack and club could not shut out the jack for the fifth and fatal trick.

The five tricks taken by declarer, resulting in only a 300 point penalty, was a beautiful sacrifice.

against the certain game (and possible slam) that the opponents would have made.

I have pointed out repeatedly in my column that it is not wise to force the declarer too often when he is at a very low contract—he makes entirely too many low trumps by this process. Apparently West is not one of my readers!

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: What is the correct response to an opening two diamond bid with the following: A 9 7 6 5 3 Q 2 10 8 6 4 2 A 7?

A mild-flavored vinegar of the best grade should be used.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Saved by Caribs

The little sloop "Betsy," of Boston, was sailing from Barbados to Dutch Guiana. Aboard was a cargo of livestock.

First Mate Williams reached the rowboat and so did the captain and two sailors.

A fierce wind arose, and heavy waves. Capt. Philip Aubin had gone through many a storm, and was not afraid. Chatting with the first mate, he did not dream of the trouble in store. Suddenly the vessel turned broadside to windward, and all efforts to turn her back were in vain. Something had gone wrong with the rudder.

Great waves broke over the deck, and some of the nine sailors were drowned. The captain seized a hatchet, and cut away the ropes leading from the masthead. By so doing, he hoped to keep the vessel from upsetting, but it was no use. In a few moments she turned over, and her masts and sails touched the water.

Only one rowboat had been aboard the wrecked "Betsy," and it had slipped into the water, bottom up. First Mate Williams reached the rowboat, and so did the captain and two sailors. With much effort they turned it right side up and got in.

In a moment, a large hole was seen in the bottom. One of the sailors plugged it up as well as he could with his shirt.

The four men had no oars, and no mast or sail. They drifted with the waves, and in a little while had their last sight of the "Betsy."

One of the sailors had a good-sized knife, and with this a mast was carved from a plank taken from the inner lining of the boat. Then sails were made from pieces of clothing, and the captain steered toward what he believed to be the nearest land, about 150 miles away.

While the captain sailed the boat, the others took turns baling out water. The journey lasted eight days. There was little food aboard, and the only fresh water came from showers. The two sailors died a few hours before land was reached.

Aubin and Williams stepped on the beach of the island of Tobago in the middle of the night. In the morning they were seen by an old Carib Indian and his two sons. The Indians took them to their village, and gave them soup.

Captain Aubin had been badly bruised in the wreck, and had hurt one of his hips, he was given the only hammock in the village. His wounds were cleaned and oil from the tail of a soldier-crab was placed on them.

For nine weeks, the white men were kindly treated by the Caribs. Then an English ship came to the island, and rescued them. In later years, Captain Aubin wrote an account of his adventures. He said he would gladly have shed his blood to be of help to his dear friends, the Caribs.

Mother's Hands Must be Firm When Washing Baby

BY ANGELO PATRI
The baby's nose, eyes, mouth and ears have to be thoroughly cleansed every morning. His body must be soaped, rinsed and patted dry. Then he must be powdered and dressed, his hair brushed and his jacket tied. All the time these services are rendered he kicks and yells. Let him. Don't allow his protests to worry you. Proceed with firm hands to do for him what is necessary down to the last wipe.

Talk cheerfully to him from time to time, between yells. Let him feel that you are not going to harm him, that he is safe with you, even though you are going right on with the job. If your hands are firm and steady, if he doesn't slip out of your grasp, if your wash rag sets to the right place without wringing his cold tail in unexpected spots, he will learn to accept his fate with resignation. The step from resignation to enjoyment is soon taken. Meantime he has learned a very valuable lesson: Your hand is steady and your intention sure.

This sets the stage for willing obedience all along the line. He learns from day to day that you can be trusted to do what you wish to do with him. That your ministrations are comforting after their cease. And he learns that protests are useless, just a waste of breath. Later when you speak firmly and certainly about what he is to do he is, through this experience, ready to accept your word.

As children develop and their complex personalities begin to display themselves in moods, likes, dislikes, tastes and tendencies, the early experiences with mothers' firm hands are a great source of strength to both. The stage is set for obedience, for patient hearing, for affectionate trust.

No child who is normal in mind and body is always ready to go along with his mother and teachers. The time comes when he feels himself adequate to the situation without any help, without guidance, and he goes his way. He may succeed, he may come to grief, but, if his early experiences with mother have taught him that she can be trusted, that her hands are steady and her purpose sure, he will not go far out of the way be-

Little Girl Has Beauty Problems

BY ELISE PIERCE
We hear so much about that schoolgirl complexion, we know so many young ones who are clean and healthy and sparkling and shiny, who smell like roses and boast natural curls (surprisingly often in place, too) that we seldom think of the little one as having any beauty problems.

But she has. There's the matter of straight teeth, straight shoulders, straight hair (very stubborn if it doesn't curl up under Mother's patient coaxing).

Beauty Served "Straight"
Straight teeth are no minor little beauty problem to little girls and their Mothers. The twice yearly visit to the dentist will tell you in time whether her first or second set threaten to grow out of alignment. Then if the dentist advises a brace for her, his instructions and spate her mental anguish and physical agony later. He may suggest a rubber brace for her to put in her mouth and bite hard and tug at—do that if he says so. With the twice yearly visit to the dentist, the twice or thrice daily brushing and the gargling with a mouth wash (yes, at her age) oral hygiene is pretty well cared for.

Straight shoulders are not so hard. Teach her the rules of good posture. Have her walk straight and tall; head up, abdomen in, shoulders back in a natural, not a trained position. Watch that back line, a straight line from head to heel. Future generations won't know the beauty destroying line of a hollow back and prominent abdomen or derriere. The exaggerated posture we were taught in school has resulted in much talk behind our backs. A straight back, then, when she carries books or "things" (children love to carry brief cases with heavy loads) make sure that she shifts the weight from arm to arm, frequently. The ambidextrous child seldom has one shoulder higher than the other.

As for straight hair, if constant coaxing over your finger and the use of special ointments and shampoos and brushing won't do the trick, and if she loves curls (as what little girl doesn't) treat her to a permanent wave, just end curls. An oil wave and preferably one of the machineless type won't harm her hair.

Straight feet—another beauty must. No curled-under toes for her. Proper shoes from her very first pair and teach her to toe straight ahead like a little Indian.

My complete new booklet "Reduce by Exercise" (Booklet 202) is yours for ten cents. It covers the subject thoroughly. Send for it, giving your name and full address to the Bell Library, care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y.

fore coming back for assurance. Childhood's faith is very strong. When a mother is not certain about what to do when she wobbles between doing and not doing, between Yes and No, the trouble begins. Just as the baby learns to respect and accept the firm sure hand and to defy and throw off the unsure one, so does the child accept or deny the guidance of his mother. If she is sure, if her mind is clear on the idea, the child soon recognizes the finality of her decision. He may bemoan his hard fate for a few minutes, but very soon, the background of faith asserts itself and he is ready to be diverted.

As the child leaves childhood behind him and enters on Youth this light goes along with him. He will, having been well trained in his duty, be inclined to go more to the right than otherwise, but always he will feel the firm spirit of his mother supporting him and leaning on that, go forward, stronger and surer day by day. A good beginning carries its own ending.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Parents Must be Friends With Children, Not Czars

BY DOROTHY DIX
What is needed in every community is a liaison officer who could act as a mediator and conciliator between parents and their adolescent children.

DOROTHY DIX

For there are no other people who understand each other so little and are at such cross purposes as fathers and mothers and their nearly grown sons and daughters. No antagonism is more bitter than theirs. No strife so incessant. No battle waged more furiously or that causes more heartache and tears. So nothing would come nearer to filling a long-felt want than a peacemaker who could bring these warring factions together and smooth out their differences.

The conflicting parties cannot do it of themselves because they are looking at the situation from different standpoints and each is certain it is right. To the parents, Junior and Sally are mere babies in the cradle who must be held by the hand and told how to take every step, go by-bye with the chickens, and desire no other amusement than to be told bedtime stories.

The very idea that they want to have any freedom or any companionship outside of their homes and families, or that they consider that they have a right to have dates, use the car and go places and do things with other infants no older than themselves, is just simply preposterous. Those babies! The very idea is ridiculous! Father and Mother will not hear of it. There is no use in Junior and Sally begging and pouting and considering themselves ill-used when they are refused.

On their part, Junior and Sally at 17 or 18 believe themselves to be the oldest, the wisest and the most sophisticated people in the world, perfectly capable of taking care of themselves and handling any emergency. They also believe their parents to be senile, with outmoded ideas and opinions, and they writhe in impatient rage at being controlled by these dotards.

Hence the fight that rages in virtually every family in which there are between-age girls and boys, the children battling for their liberty, the parents struggling to do their duty and the home turned into a place of strife and turmoil.

This would be bad enough in all conscience if this were all, but in the warfare between parents and children it often happens that wounds are dealt that never heal.

Surely the liaison officer would impress upon fathers and mothers that the day of the heavy parent has gone, and that if they want to keep their children they must drive with a light rein. Otherwise they will bolt. No use in threatening to turn them out of doors if they don't obey. They would like nothing better than to try their wings. No use in refusing to let their children do what all the other boys and girls are doing. They will do it anyhow. If Father won't let Sally have dates, she meets boys on the sly. If he won't let her go to nice parties, she slips out and goes to places he never heard of.

And, above all, the liaison officer would make fathers and mothers understand that they can no more rear children now in the way they were reared than they can do business in the way they used to do it. Parents must be friends with their children, not czars.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST
TIPPING ON TRANSATLANTIC AND OTHER STEAMERS
Dear Mrs. Post: Some months ago you printed several articles which included the recommended amounts for tipping on transatlantic liners and cruise ships. I meant to clip that list as I often do the things I feel I may want to refer to some day, but didn't. Now I would like to have it very much. Will you consider reprinting as much of it as you feel essential for the inexperienced traveler on present-day ships?

Answer: I have no copy of the list you ask for but the following is taken from one of the tipping lists in the new revised edition of my book:

"Cabin steward: If occupying average cabin class accommodations on a biggest and fastest de luxe transatlantic steamship, a man should give five dollars; a woman divides the amount between steward and stewardess, or if considering service was excellent of stewardess she gets five dollars.

Dining room steward: receives five dollars; his assistant two and a half and possibly three. In a Ritz restaurant you tip ten per cent of your bill at the end of the voyage, or fifteen per cent if your bill is small.

Deck Steward gets two to five dollars, depending upon service. If you take many meals on deck, tip steward who brought them to you at least five dollars. (You give nothing to the chief dining room steward unless he was especially attentive, nor send a chef anything unless he prepared special dishes for you.)

Smoking room steward is given from ten cents to a quarter at the time you order anything from him, or if he presents his bill at the end of the voyage you tip him about as you would have at separate times—between fifteen and twenty per cent. If you bought only cigarettes, or cigars at the counter you add ten per cent to his bill.

Dining table wine steward gets ten per cent of the amount on the bill.

Bath steward gets a dollar.

On a slower boat on which fare is a third less, tips are reduced in proportion of three dollars in place of five.

Going to Bermuda on the highest class ship tip would be two dollars in place of five, and small amounts in proportion.

On an eighteen-day cruise tips would be double your first class Atlantic crossing.

The more luxurious accommodations the proportionately higher your tips. Eight per cent of your passage money is about right for a cabin passenger. Tourist class, five per cent is enough.

Old Gardener Says:
BY E. I. FARRINGTON
The shades in which most of the prunellus hybrid gladioli appear are especially satisfactory for use indoors. Indeed, these prunellus hybrids are near the top of the list in late summer are being considered. They have lighter stems than the older types of gladioli, which is a distinct advantage. It is very difficult to arrange gladioli spikes with stiff stems so as to get a graceful effect. This is one of the drawbacks to gladioli for indoor use. The prunellus hybrids often come with crooked stems. At first, growers considered this a reason for complaint. Now women who use flowers prefer those with crooked stems, finding them more adaptable for artistic effect.

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Accuses President Of Causing Class Hate in Country

Lawrence Claims Speeches Are Full of Comment Spreading Antagonism

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Of all the comments that come in every now and then from people in all walks of life is one asking the simple, but pathetic question: When will there be an end to the present era of hate?

The belief that class is being arrayed against class by members of the present administration, beginning with President Roosevelt and continuing to lesser officials and to allied groups, is widespread. The defense usually offered is that the provocation—the demand for social justice and a better deal for the underprivileged—justifies the tactics used.

The president of the United States, however, who is often looked upon by the people as a moral leader, or spokesman, at least, of national morality, hardly ever makes a speech nowadays that he does not inject into it some note of class antagonism, some challenge of militancy to those he calls "a powerful minority."

As for the people who disagree with the president, many unfortunately bear toward Mr. Roosevelt a burning hatred. They do not concede to him benevolence of purpose, but constantly accuse him of malevolence. The president, in one of his speeches in 1936, took cognizance of this and said bluntly, "I welcome their hatred."

English Statesmanship
How different is the spirit of statesmanship in England! There came to my office today a communication which one doubts would ever be penned by a group of American high officials. It was signed by the marquis of Salisbury, one of England's most respected elder statesmen, by Dr. J. W. Mackall, one of the greatest classical scholars of England, by Ernest Brown, minister of labor in the present cabinet, and by Lord Davidson, who was Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's closest advisor. It was published in the "London Times" and reads in part as follows:

"The disunity of aim and conflict of interest that now disturbs all human life and relationships, throughout the world, whether social, national or international, is surely today the greatest menace to modern civilization."

"On one point all thoughtful people must be united. No effective, unifying, or harmonizing principle has yet been discovered in any system of social or political philosophy, or method of political organization, or science of national or international statecraft. Quite plainly human ingenuity and human intelligence have failed to find a remedy."

"It cannot be God's plan or purpose that no remedy should be found. He surely has one. The most urgent duty of every Christian is to try under God's guidance, to find the remedy and then apply it with faith and unremitting intensity of purpose."

Oxford Group is Example
"We have been deeply impressed with signs around us of the revival of conviction in this sense. We believe that many a humble Christian is striving by prayer and effort to help forward God's purpose and we thankfully recognize that men are banding themselves together to seek and to find the road to it. The Oxford group is a notable example. This world-wide movement stands out as a challenge to the churches today to be up and doing."

"The dominating motive which animates these efforts, whether in the group or elsewhere, is a pledge of loyalty to apply under God's guidance the spirit and principles of Christ to individual conduct and to every department of social, national and supernatural life."

"These workers are striving . . . to drive home as a fundamental principle that every one in every nation is in Christian duty bound, in all possible and practicable ways, to apply and insistently work for the general application of the principles of Christ not merely to his own problems but most especially to those of his community and nation, and of the nations of the world."

We write this letter to urge the crying need of mankind that this fundamental principle should be emphasized and insistently applied, broadcast throughout this and other countries. What nations imperatively require is a development of the sense of personal responsibility to bring men and women and all administrations and governments to a spirit of loyalty to God. This alone can unite a chaotic world."

President's Message
Only this week there has been in session at Williamstown, Mass., a meeting held under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The subject has been "public opinion," and judging from a reading of the speeches, they have contained some of the same sharp cleavages which were conveyed in President Roosevelt's message opening the conference. In 1935, the president sent to the National Conference of Christians and Jews a splendid message declaring that there was a social or political or economic problem which would not yield a solution if approached in the true spirit of religion. But, unfortunately, as the spirit of hate is more and more engendered, as lack of impartiality in enforcing the laws of the land stirs up the passions of the land, as the movement and sows the seeds of revolt, there is not much progress made toward a revival of the unifying spirit of religion. Some day that spirit, however, must conquer the spirit of hate and class warfare—and from no position of vantage can words of tolerance and restraint be uttered more effectively to heal the wounds of class division than from the high office of president and from the government generally. The voice of the British statesmen who have the vision to write of the need for divine guidance is matched here by men and women in all walks of life who feel the same urge to spread the doctrine of human cooperation and mutual help, but, in America, as in England, leadership comes from those in authority, and it is to them the populace turns hopefully now, as always, for initiative and example.

Jobs Available For Recent High School Graduates
Job opportunities for recent high school graduates are increasing and those youths who have made application for work at the Wisconsin State Service Employment office were urged today by Fred R. Gerhke, manager, to keep their applications active by reporting at the office at least once every 30 days.
"Others who have not registered for work are urged to do so immediately for more calls are being received daily for recent high school graduates," Gerhke continued.

There are numerous requests for apprentices and any young men who have decided not to continue their education and desire to learn a trade are advised by Gerhke to register at once.

Cudlip Predicts New Record Time In Rowboat Derby

Several Teams Training Daily for Labor Day Contest

Neenah—J. P. Cudlip, secretary of Winnebago-Land Inc., informed members of the Neenah Lions club that a rowing race will be held at the Valley Inn that this year's National Rowboat Derby would be the fastest of the national events staged.

The secretary explained that several of the participants are training every day and that in pulls across the lake they have covered the distance in record time.

He said that so far there are 10 teams officially entered in the national events and more are expected to enter within a few days.

Chairmen of committees in charge of the Lions club Labor day celebration which will be held in conjunction with the National Rowboat Derby made reports at the noon meeting.

Will Erect Stands

A. A. Hennig, chairman of the concessions committee, reported that four stands will be erected at convenient points in Lakeview park. The following members will be in charge of the stands: No. 1, Hennig, chairman, Toby Kuehl, Clarence Jensen and William E. Benedict. No. 2, Alvin Laffin, chairman, Dr. F. J. Simmerman, and Al Hilde. No. 3, Lawrence Steffen, chairman, R. E. Kelley and Harry G. Gates. No. 4, Beryl Dodge, chairman, O. B. Pratt and Art Kessler.

Hennig requested that members of the club ask their wives to assist them in running the stands.

Neenah police will be requested to supervise parking areas, and it was decided that the park drive will be closed to traffic in order to avoid congestion. Arrangements will be made with the park custodian for benches.

Plan Jitney Dance

Francis Hauser, chairman of the dance committee, reported that a popular 5-piece orchestra has been secured for the jitney dance which will be held at the park pavilion.

All arrangements have been made for the outdoor motor boat races, canoe tilting event and other contests.

Another meeting of chairmen of committees will be held at 12:30 Thursday afternoon at the city hall.

City Pin League To Begin Sept. 14

Expect 16 or 18 Teams to Compete in Loop This Year

Neenah—At least 16 or 18 teams are expected to participate in the City Bowling league this season. 14 teams having already signified their intention of competing, it was learned today. The season will start Tuesday night, Sept. 14.

Because the state tournament will start in April next year, it will be necessary to limit the season to 30 weeks less than the usual schedule.

At a league meeting recently Earl Haase, George Seitz, A. A. Hennig and Paul Ziemke were chosen to comprise the league committee, while Charles Handker, Joseph Muench, Ollie Kuehl and George Thompson were selected for the schedule committee.

The 14 teams which have already indicated they will compete this year are National Manufacturers banks, Lancasters, Appleton-Encravers, Neenah Papers, Gilbert Papers, Gold Labels, F. O. E. Johnson Shoes, Brecklin's Sharpshooters, Meyer Booteries, Sawyer Papers, Gilbert-Nash company, First National banks and Lake View papers.

E. R. A. Assembly to Name New Officers Thursday

Neenah—Officers of the Equitable Reserve association will be elected at a meeting of the No. 1 assembly at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the E. R. A. building.

Present officers of the association are R. Gordon Pope, president, Audre Raiche, vice president, H. W. Hultner, secretary, A. C. Althaus, treasurer, Florence Snyder, past president, Berendson, secretary, Mrs. Berendson, warden, and Mrs. Theresa Martin and Mrs. Beatrice Flieger, guards.

Whooping Cough Only Contagion at Neenah

Neenah—Dr. Frank O. Brunckhorst, city health officer, said today that there were no cases or symptoms of infantile paralysis in Neenah, and that the only cases of contagious disease during the month were whooping cough. Ten persons were treated for the disease, he reported.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 310 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Thursday Will be Neenah-Menasha Day At Winnebago Fair

Neenah—The city offices and the banks of the Twin Cities will be closed tomorrow afternoon in observance of Menasha-Neenah day at the Winnebago county fair at Oshkosh. Fair officials have invited the city officials to be guests of honor at the fair. City officials are to report at the secretary's office at 1:30 o'clock after which they will be escorted to box seats for the afternoon and evening programs.

Mayor Edwin Kalkas of Neenah will give a short address. Mayor W. E. Held of Menasha will be unable to attend the fair because of illness but will delegate some one to represent him. Members of the council and city administrative officials have been included in the invitation.

All four of the Twin Cities banks—the First National and the Bank of Menasha here and the National Manufacturers and the First National at Neenah—will close shortly after midday so their employees may attend the fair.

The Wisconsin State Unemployment office, 510 North Commercial street, Neenah, will also be closed during the afternoon, according to Harry D. Gates, manager.

Record Breaking Crowds at County Fair in Oshkosh

Attendance Yesterday Exceeds 1936 Mark By 5,000

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh—Threatening skies and ultra-hot weather failed to dampen enthusiasm of Oshkosh folk for their own Winnebago county fair and at noon today T. G. Brown, secretary, stated that an auto count indicated an attendance for Oshkosh day "is way ahead of last year."

Brown said that last year's total for Oshkosh day was more than 25,000 and when all tickets are counted tonight he is confident last year's high mark will be exceeded by several thousand. A check of business done Tuesday, "Children's day" at the fair, started the record breaking with about 5,000 more attending on the first day this year than in 1936.

At noon today, all Oshkosh business establishments, the city hall and the courthouse closed for the fair.

Booths Filled

All 4-H booths were filled on opening day with exhibits in charge of Miss Helen Briggs, Winnebago county home demonstration leader, and R. C. Heffernan, county agent. They were larger and more elaborate than last year. All spaces were allotted five days ago. Miss Briggs said, and five 4-H clubs were crowded out of this year's exposition. Heffernan reported a total of 17 booths conducted by 4-H clubs in the county.

Highlights at the opening day of the fair included the winning for the second year in succession of the annual horse pulling contest by a heavyweight team owned by Arthur Peters, Shiocton. They pulled a weight of 2,650 pounds for a distance of 274 feet. J. F. Wilkinson, high school agriculture teacher, was in charge.

In the single horse pulling contest, three horses pulled 1,300 pounds 274 feet. They belonged to Peters, Metcalfe and Herbert Rusch. Second place in the heavyweight team pull was won by Herbert Rusch's team from Seymour. Second place in the light weight pull went to C. Marsh, Seymour.

Other Teams

Other teams entered in the light-weight contest were owned by Harry Mark, Seymour; Peter Lochner, Oshkosh, and Stephen Nolan, Menasha.

The big day for Neenah-Menasha and county folk is set for Thursday, Sept. 2. Brown said. It is Neenah-Menasha day with special educational features in all fair departments in the morning and horse races and free acts starting at 1:30 in the afternoon. For horse race fans, Brown said, there will be a 2:22 trot for $250 and added money and a free-for-all pace for the same amount.

Friday will be "thrill day." The day will begin with a parade of all livestock winners in front of the grandstand at 11 o'clock and auto races and free acts will begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Courtney Urges Nurses to Set Up Goal for Future

Neenah—Belittling those persons not big enough to rise above the obstacles in life, the Rev. W. A. Courtney, pastor, First Presbyterian church, challenged the graduating nurses of Theda Clark Memorial hospital at the commencement exercises in the nurses' home last evening to set up goal, understand its route of achievement, drive sanely, watch out for the other fellow, and have courage to reach the destination.

"Too often people start out in life with little knowledge of where they want to go and little concrete information how to get there," said the Rev. Mr. Courtney as he gave the commencement address to more than 100 parents and friends of the eight young women who received their R. N. degrees from the training school, Thursday.

"You can set up your goal, and understand what route is the best route or you can accept defeat and frustrations that seek to destroy the finest within you . . . the integrity of purpose."

"Life is never decided in our moments of happiness but in moments of definite conflict. It is then that the strongest elements of character are built. Don't lose the power of mind and heart that build stability."

Imagination Helps

The speaker declared that the ability to be imaginative and use it constructively is the way to attain success, that it was important to consider what can best be used today to make better the tomorrows.

Using symbolic pictures to illustrate his discussion, the Rev. Mr. Courtney said that often in life "we who are young go forth to meet life with every promise of success but are faced on the highway of life by side roads, whose pathway only leads to deadened desire and fading dreams until we have only the memory of a goal that is lost, an opportunity that can never be regained."

Dr. S. B. Greenwood who substituted for Dr. R. C. Lowe, president of the staff at the hospital, extended greetings and congratulations from the staff and told the graduates that they were representatives of the nursing profession with its reputation in the home. He cautioned them to so act and so live that they could bring credit to the school which was presenting them with diplomas that signified the school "found them intelligent, thoroughly trustworthy, studious, kind, conscientious, in short, good nurses."

Dr. Forkin Talks

Dr. G. E. Forkin, Menasha, gave a brief address to the graduates. The Rev. A. A. Chambers, rector, St. Thomas Episcopal church, gave the invocation, the benediction using the dedication to service theme.

Karl J. Coffey, Oshkosh, sang "Slave Song" by Teresa Del Riego, "Roses of Picardy" by Haydn Wood, "For You Alone" by Henry E. Geehl and "Three for Jack" by W. H. Squire. Mrs. Annette Sindahl Matheson played the accompaniment. Mrs. Helen Haertl Brainerd, former Neenah player and now of Philadelphia, Pa., played a piano recital preceding the exercises. She also played the march for the nurses who were preceded into the recreation hall where the exercises were held, by the hospital nurses, the members of Theda Clark hospital Alumnae association and the student nurses. Each graduate wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias, gifts from Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark.

C. B. Clark acted as master of ceremonies, introducing each part of the program and the speaker. Congratulatory telegrams were read by Mr. Clark from three student nurses who are doing affiliating work in Chicago and from Olga W. Jordeaim, former instructor.

Women Play for 'Phoney' Money in Golfing Jamboree

'Fortunes' Change Hands At Event on Springvale Course

New London—Thousands of dollars changed hands in a spirit of fun and foolishness at Springvale Golf course yesterday afternoon as a million dollar tournament, won by Miss Betty Morse with total winnings of $19,600 (in play money), featured the annual jamboree of the New London Women's Golf club at the course. The game engaged about half the 48 club members and guests while the others were entertained at bridge.

Miss Morse was elected to the executive board of the club at the business meeting which was held after the luncheon at noon. With her, Mrs. F. J. Murphy and Mrs. H. H. Helms were elected to relieve Mrs. E. C. Jost, present chairman of the board; Mrs. Len Cline, secretary; and Mrs. A. L. Severance. The new board will meet soon to elect its officers and name committees for the coming year. Continuing on the board are Mrs. G. A. Vandree, Mrs. George Demming and Mrs. Thomas F. Fitzgerald.

Thursday the club will journey to Clintonville to play a return game with the women's club there. The first match which was held here in July was rained out early in the afternoon.

Mr. McDaniel Low
Hardest hit in the tournament was Miss Kathryn Wilson who had but $4,100 left of her original $6,300 after the playing was over. On the score card Mrs. Henry McDaniel took first prize for the lowest tally, $2 for the round. Mrs. Ed Lyon received recognition for holding the highest score. Others who received prizes for some sort of record or other were Mrs. G. F. Werbner, Mrs. Oscar Nenschoff, Mrs. Rudd Smith and again, Mrs. Ed Lyon, this time for high on 3 hole.

Miss George Groher won first place at bridge and Mrs. D. B. Vanderveer second. Other bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. O. K. Zieber, Miss Edith Rasmussen, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald.

Miss Louise Demming was awarded the prize for being the youngest player on the course. Miss Genevieve Smith received a prize for the same distinction among the bridge players. Mrs. J. J. Burns was honored for the best form at golf and Mrs. J. M. Monsted, Jr. for getting into the most traps. Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, Milwaukee was from the farthest distance. She spent the summer here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald.

The person with the biggest feet, the largest head, the biggest mouth, and the dirtiest car were among some of the excuses to award fancy prizes. Among the adjudged winners in that group were Miss Dorothy Stern and Miss Kathryn Wilson, two who planned the foolishness with Mrs. Henry McDaniel; then Mrs. D. N. Stacy, Mrs. E. C. Jost, Miss Ismae Stoffer, Mrs. Rudd Smith, Mrs. Len Cline and Mrs. George J. Y. Potter.

Others who won prizes were Mrs. D. B. Egan, Mrs. Beatrice Monsted, Mrs. F. E. Patchen, Mrs. R. C. Dauterman, Mrs. H. B. Cristy and Mrs. L. M. Wright.

Fun ran high at the payoff at each hole, inasmuch as the "swear" words included such common expressions as "gee", "darn" and whatnot.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, also an expert with revolver and rifle, who thinks nothing of shooting a piece of chalk from her husband's mouth.

Cities visited included Duluth, Ely, St. Cloud, Walker and Deer River. An unusual reception was accorded the Johnsons at Deer River, the mayor, his officials and citizens going to meet them and giving them the keys to the city. Minnesota state police controlled the crowds at St. Cloud, Ely and Walker where the enthusiastic on-lookers were hard to keep within bounds.

Extreme weather conditions were encountered by the Johnsons, at Duluth the temperature was 47 degrees while the next day at Ely it was 105 degrees.

On Saturday Redgranite will be host to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson while Labor day will find them at Surging where a year ago they were guests of Wayne King at his summer home in this resort town. On Sunday, Sept. 13, they will be in Orfordville, Wis., where a few months ago they gave an exhibition shoot. This time they are going as special guests of this little village of 200, the day having been dedicated as "Bill Johnson day," and preparations are under way to entertain 3,000 persons.

Expect 85,000 to Watch Packers and All-Stars Tonight

Game to Feature Best Passers in College, Pro Ball

Baugh, Buivid Will Hurl For Collegians, Herber for Bays

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO—(AP)—Green Bay's Packers, current last word in professional football accomplishment, will take their turn on the spot against selected college talent tonight before 85,000 fans at Soldier Field in the fourth annual All Star gridiron spectacle.

The Packers, like the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions, their predecessors in football's biggest one night stand, will defend the prestige of professional football against the collegiate brand. The All Stars, 65 huskies selected by more than 5,000,000 fans as the brightest stars of the 1936 college season, will be defeating only their individual reputations, leaving most of the pressure on the professionals.

Depend on Baugh
Charles E. (Gus) Dorais of the University of Detroit, a specialist in forward passing, who also was selected by the fans to head the All Star coaching staff, has drilled his squad for 17 days, with most of the offensive sessions devoted to an aerial game built around "Slingshot Sam" Baugh, Texas Christian's great sharpshooter.

He had a host of other flingers at his disposal, notably Ray Buivid of Marquette, Vernon Huffman of Indiana, and Big Sam Francis of Nebraska, but apparently has decided to leave the victory or defeat question up to Baugh.

Dorais will start the first eleven men named by the fans—a lineup which did not include Baugh—but after the opening kickoff will be at liberty to send in anyone on the squad, and Baugh is expected to make his appearance without much delay. The All Star team which will be out there at the kickoff includes four members of the 1936 All American team: Gavett of Louisiana State; Ed Wideth, Minnesota tackle; Max Starcevic of Washington; guard; Averell Daniell of Pittsburgh, the other tackle, and Francis.

Packers To Use Best
The Packers, who moved through their professional opposition last year with a combination of slugging running offense and a great passing game, will be led by Arnie Herber and Don Hutson, who will send their best into the field at the start. The backfield will line up with Hank Bruder, former Northwestern star, at quarterback; Herber and George Sauer, all America fullback from Nebraska in 1933, at the half-back positions, and Clark Hinkle of Cornell, kicking ace, at fullback.

More than 40 of the collegians already are under contract to professional clubs, and the other 20 odd will have chances to earn related opportunities in the cash-and-carry game.

In case of rain, the game will be postponed until tomorrow night.

British Sportsman

Sets Speedboat Mark

Larne, Switzerland—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, famed British sportsman, added the world's motor boat speed record to his international automobile speed standard today.

The 52-year-old Briton piloted his 23-foot speedboat, Bluebird, over Lake Maggiore's smooth waters at a rate of 125.75 miles per hour to eclipse Gun Wood's five-year-old mark of 124.21 m. p. h.

Sir Malcolm already holds the world automobile record of 301.33 m. p. h. set at Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah in 1935.

Sir Malcolm's aquatic Bluebird—his record-smashing automobile was called by the same name—was powered by a Rolls Royce aero engine.

VIKING GRIDDERS "IN PINK"

When Lawrence college gridders gather for their first practice on Sept. 16, at least two of the boys will be "in the pink" physically. And if you don't believe it just take a look above at Albert Novakowski, left, and Ken Westberg, a couple Menasha youths who play in the Vike backfield. They're working on the new addition to the Kimberly-Clark Lakeview mill and the photographer had to clamber up three stories to get a picture of the boys pouring concrete for one of the floor supports. Novakowski is a half back and Westberg plays full. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Cochrane Highest Paid Manager in Major Loops

BY EDDIE BRIEZE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Guess who's the highest paid manager in the majors? ... No, not Joe McCarthy of the Yankees ($36,000 per) nor Bill Terry of the Giants ($27,500) ... The lucky guy is Mike Jacobs of Detroit. ... We can't tell you what he draws down, but its tops ... the info comes straight down the baseball alley and will stand up. ... F u r t h e r m o r e "Black Mike" is in so solid with his bosses he can lead the Tigers as long as he wants to—and doesn't have to sign a contract.

We figure Mike Jacobs cleared $50,000 for himself out of the Farr-Louis brawl. ... which ain't exactly tin. ... All concerned had better look out for Michigan State this year.

Coach Charlie Bachman has 'em so deep he's stopped counting. ... Tommy Farr took a man sized swig of concoction of brandy, port wine and sherry just before he left his dressing room ... yum, yum. ... As if there isn't enough heat around, we offer you the National league pennant race.

Finance Dept.: Jimmy Johnston, the Garden maestro, took one good look at Farr, bobbing and weaving against Louis in the first round Monday night, then bet $10 on Tommy to last at 3 to 1. ... Also induced former Mayor Jimmy Walker to do same. ... Both collected. ... Johnston said a week ago if the Welshman would only keep his head against Louis, he'd turn in a big surprise. ... Get out the old liniment—football practice starts this week. ... Bill Terry wants it understood he isn't about to accept a reported offer of $40,000 per to shift from the Giants to Cleveland.

You can hear Tommy Farr on the air with Jim Tully tomorrow night. ... (Tommy consented to be interviewed only if the agency which arranged the broadcast would waive its customary commission.) ... Diz Trout of the Toledo Mud Hens wouldn't think of taking the mound without a red bandana in his hip pocket. ...

Top price for Mike Jacobs' "carnival of champions" in September with four-count 'em—four of them defending their titles will be $1650. ... This corner is two years old today, whoops. ... New York fight writers are buffeted at Referee Arthur Donovan (one of the best in the country) giving Louis 13 rounds against Farr. ... That's one that doesn't make rhyme or reason. ... Donovan said Farr wasn't getting out of the way of Louis' left jab. ... haw! They didn't hurt him, did they? ... Billy Petrolle, the old "Farr Express" who owns an iron foundry in Duluth and drives his own truck, now takes bookkeeping lessons so he can keep his own books. ... Still hits the hay at 9 p. m.

Wins Marathon Swim 2nd Successive Year

Toronto, Ont.—(AP)—Husky Frank Pritchard, a 25-year-old Buffalo life guard, has pulled $5,000 out of the choppy waters of Lake Ontario in the last two years.

Frank's procedure is simple. All he does is enter the Canadian national exhibition's annual marathon swim and capture first place and $2,500.

He turned the trick for the second straight year yesterday when he swam the 10 miles in 4:18:28 to finish six minutes or 350 yards ahead of Bill Nolan, of Chelsea, Mass., who took the $750 second prize. Nolan's time was 4:25:45.

Pritchard and Nolan made a fight of it after the other 64 starters dropped behind.

Giants Beaten by Cards Who Pound Out 16 Safeties

Rudy York Gets Two Homers, Betters Babe's Record for a Month

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

BILLY TERRY long since has discovered that, when his ball club is in the thick of the pennant scramble, it can look for little or no assistance from its neighbors on the far side of the Brooklyn bridge.

Three years ago Terry had the bitter proof of that. In the last few games of the season, with the Giants and Cardinals in a "he's up—he's down" scrap for the hunting, the Dodgers invaded the Polo grounds and won the undying gratitude of their constituents by easing the Giants out and the Gas-Housers in.

Now he's a fresh example. His own verdict to the 16-hitting Cardinals yesterday. But even that wouldn't have wiped out their 2-point first place margin if the Dodgers had hog-tied the Cubs.

The Dodgers, however, lost, 4-2, with the result that both series were resumed today with the standings revised thus:

W. L. Pct.
Chicago 73 47 .608
New York 73 47 .602

Last Two Players
Brooklyn in fact, had quite an afternoon. Besides being thrown for a loss by Tex Carleton's 8-hit pitching, they lost Woody English, at least temporarily, with a sprained ankle and first baseman Buddy Hassett, one of the team's few consistent hitters, on a new play called "the manager's bounce."

As put on by Burleigh Grimes, it consists of storming onto the field when one of your players commits an error and yanking him right out of the game. Just what dividends it pays in player morale is probably a matter of opinion.

While the Cubs and Giants continue to go up and down on their personal see-saw, the American league has turned over the job of keeping its own doors interesting to Rudy York, the back-stopping Indian.

It couldn't, obviously, have been given to anyone better. Rudy's latest fireworks display, set off in the chagrined faces of the Senators, consisted of two homers and two singles that accounted for seven runs, sufficient to wallop Washington, 12-3.

Batters Record
York thereby not only put himself right behind DiMaggio, Fox and Gehrig in the home run race at 30, but also bettered by one Babe Ruth's record of 17 homers in one month. The Bam got that high on the way to his record 60 in September, 1927.

Meanwhile several neat pitching performances were written on the record books. Danny MacFayen, with a 2-hitter that stopped the Reds, 7-2, and Buckie Walters, with a 3-0, 5-hit shutout of the Pirates, headed the list.

Bump Hadley, aided by Gehrig's 4-bagger with the bases full, beat the Indians for the Yankees, 7-3; the White Sox edged out the Red Sox, 7-6, and the Browns and Athletics split a double-header, St. Louis winning the first 2-1, the Chicago Cubs the second 3-2.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

TODAY all roads lead to Chicago as far as Fox river valley sports fans are concerned and more than one chap is making a two or three-day vacation of things with a couple of baseball games tossed in with the All-Star game. And those who like baseball will have an opportunity to watch Cal Hubbard, the former Packer tackle, do his stuff for he is slated to work the Sox games.

But of course the big show is the football game tonight. And what will happen? Doggone if I know but don't be surprised if the Packers uncork a highly devastating plunging game this evening at least for a while.

making the rounds at Green Bay, and it comes from a fairly reliable source, is that with the All-Stars all keyed up to stop the Bay passes that the Bays will start Sauer and/or Hinkle and run the very devil out of the line. Hutson will be there and so will Herber but it'll be a ground game instead of the air. Remember that Cardinal-Packer game in Milwaukee last year when the boys ran through the Chicagoans? Well, that's what may happen in start things tonight.

I doubt whether Lambeau will be content to play defensive ball against the stars. But if he should it'll be because he's remembering there's a Pro season in the offing. While he's spent a lot of time on the All-Star game he hasn't lost sight of the fact he has four games he'll almost have to win in Green Bay, two in Milwaukee and several on the road.

There was a lot of yowling and tossing of hasty comments Monday evening after the big fight about the chance that a foreigner has of lifting the heavyweight title and for that the radio broadcast is entirely to blame.

As the fight got under way it was obvious that Clem McCarthy was expecting a quick K. O. When it didn't come and Farr started to show a little stuff Clem became so enthusiastic over Farr—or disappointed in Louis—that from then on he talked Farr and no one else. As I sat and listened to his comments and watched the expressions of a couple other chaps nearby, it was obvious they felt Farr was piling up an edge. But I couldn't help remember, despite Mr. McCarthy, that Louis didn't appear to be cut up, he hadn't been rocked more than once, and at least on two occasions he had battered Tom badly. And in one round it appeared the bell saved Tom.

Even in the last frame McCarthy made it appear that Farr was fighting a terrific battle yet the newspapers said that both his eyes were so badly puffed he could hardly see.

In other words, I think the broadcast was terrible. And don't judge fights until you can read the newspaper reports. Even if the boys pick the wrong guy before the bouts they'll write the fight straight—if you read several versions.

Seen at Bill Draheim's at Neenah—A piece of black cloth hung as a drape with a notation that it's in memory of the Chicago Cubs.

You know what I liked best about the heavyweight go the other night? The fact Farr and his handlers didn't have a single disparaging remark to make about the decision or the arrangements. That guy must have won a lot of friends and he should make a few dollars as a result.

Roundy Coughlin at Madison says: Wisconsin is going to box St. Norbert's college this winter. A lot of people have been wondering why they don't take them on. They'll box here in Madison, Tulane university will box here too. Wisconsin goes out of town once this winter to box. They go to Louisiana State.

Credit Paul Little of Kaukauna with the first "blues" story of the year. He says he's already looking for a hiding place for weekends this fall. Tak Tak. Bet Del Stacy at New London is next.

Maurus Schumacher of Stockbridge, who plays a pretty fair game at first, homered over the right field fence at Milwaukee in that state tourney the other day. Wouldn't be surprised if someone tried to annex his name to a contract.

Neil Gonyou, once a student at Kaukauna High school will coach football at West Allis this fall.

Saw Ken Laird at Black Creek Sunday. He was home for a couple of days between periods at Clarence Rasmussen's Red Arrow camp. He returned today for the annual Milwaukee Country Day school football camp for as you know Ken will coach and teach at the institution.

He says old "Razz" still likes to dabble in the game but that he's not as young as he used to be and after a bit of over activity Razz gets puffing and then walks away to let a younger fellow carry on.

Brother Versus Brother Tonight In Pro-Star Game

Chicago—(AP)—The Svendsen boys of Minnesota, George and Earle, will fight all about their fraternal relationship tonight when the Green Bay Packers meet the 1936 College All Stars at Soldier Field.

George, the elder, who played varsity center for the Gophers a few years ago, will start in the middle of the Packer line. Earle, last year's Minnesota pivotman, will look his brother in the eye from the center of all All-Star forward wall.

High School Grid Officials to Have Rules Meeting

W. A. Witte Outlines Series of Conferences in This Section

QUESTIONS for the examinations which state high school football officials will write next month are now being prepared, according to W. A. Witte, assistant principal at Appleton High school and chairman of the rules committee of the W. I. A. A.

The examinations will be given in various cities throughout the state following a series of meetings in which the rules will be interpreted.

Witte will have charge of the three of the interpretation meetings, the first at Oshkosh High school on Thursday, Sept. 9, the second at West Green Bay High school on Tuesday, Sept. 14, and the third at Manitowish High school on Thursday, Sept. 16.

The date for the actual examinations and the places where they will be held have not been determined yet. The questions will require about an hour's writing.

A new system of classifying officials has been adopted by the W. I. A. A. this year. Officials formerly have been listed as either registered or approved, but this year a third and highest classification called "certified" will be added.

The registered official must merely have his application accepted by the W. I. A. A. and pay fees. An approved official must have been registered at least a year, attended interpretation meetings regularly during that time, earned a grade of 80 per cent in his examinations, and worked at least three football games or seven basketball games or both.

In order to qualify as a certified official, a man must have been in the approved class for the year, attended meetings faithfully, had five years experience and

Kaukauna to Play Rapids Nine at Milwaukee Meet

State Loop Veterans Playing With Central Wisconsin Team

KAUKAUNA'S Electric City Brewers will leave tomorrow for Milwaukee where they will play Wisconsin Rapids in their first game of the state tournament. They are entered in the semi-pro tournament.

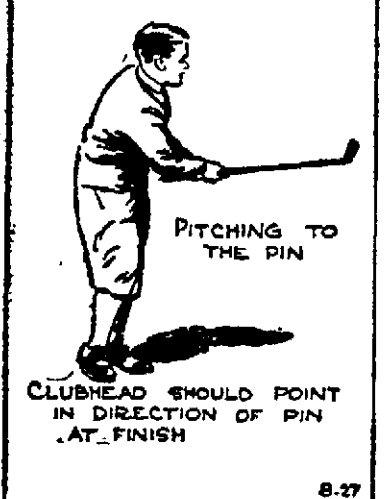

The Rapids will present about as tough a battle front as the Brewers have met this season. Zuehlis, former University of Wisconsin and Waupaca pitcher, and whose name already is affixed to a White Sox contract, will hurl for the Rapids while others on the squad are Chadwick, Mariotti, Sandrin, Bouton, Plahmer and Finup who performed on the Rapids team back in the State League.

Kaukauna will use its regular squad augmented by Dick Welsgerber of Little Chute and Johnny Rowe of Green Bay. Rowe's status is something of a question, however, for Green Bay may not let him go in view of the fact the Bays and Kaws have a little argument next Sunday evening at Green Bay.

The Kaw-Bay game Sunday night will determine whether the Kaws or Bays win the second round title. Kaukauna would like to garner the honor for it would mean the Northern State loop title. The Brewers aren't interested in a playoff, so they say, because they don't feel it would draw enough to make it worth while. However, with the Bays a possible opponent, they may see things differently.

GRAPHIC GOLE

BY BEST BALL

LET CLUBFACE LIFT THE BALL

The uniformed golfer often has the mistaken idea that to make the ball rise he must add some measure of physical effort such as scooping the ball up to his usual swinging mechanics. The thought is harmful of course because it means that the position of the body will change during the stroke and the arc of the clubhead will change with it, resulting most often in a cubed shot.

The loft of the pitching club is so designed that it will raise the ball itself if given the chance. The player's job is to give it that chance. For that reason the pitch shot must be made with the body position unchanged throughout in regard to its original stance.

There is some body turn of course but the main source of power is the hands, which take the clubhead back in a half arc and float it smoothly through the ball. At the finish the clubhead should be pointing straight in the direction of the hole. This is an important thing to remember for it keeps the golfer concentrating on hitting the ball correctly. If the clubhead cuts across the ball from either the outside or inside out it will vary by that much from this line. Smooth stroking does it and the clubface will do its share if given the opportunity.

State League Notes

KAUKAUNA visits Green Bay for a lantern party at Green Sox field Sunday evening, where hinges the championship of the second round in the Northern State League. Both won six of the nine tilts so far, and home town fans just naturally are working up a fine head of steam.

Two Rivers was put out of first place running Sunday afternoon when Little Chute eked out a 3-2 victory after going 10 frames. The Chutes thereby made conversation material, even though the nine hasn't been able to get out of the cellar this half.

Although he didn't go quite up to his killing of 15 two weeks ago, Johnny Rowe's 13 strikeouts against Kimberly was just fine for the Green Sox, thank you.

The 5-4 event at Manitowoc was the fourth whipping this season that Two Rivers had at the hands of the Ships. There's an angle for next year.

Three homers featured the Manitowoc-Two Rivers tie, Vnuk getting one for the Ships and Meyer and Brault for the other outfit.

Ellis, second sacker for Little Chute, has been wearing a sheepish grin all week, just because he was the lad who drove

Work in Track Suits at Spencer Street Athletic Field

Headed by Charles Sample, husky fullback, Appleton High school's 1937 football squad met today for its first outdoor drill at the Spencer street athletic field. Last year the highs worked at Interlake park.

Approximately 35 boys drew suits yesterday but the number is expected to increase. Practically all of last year's letter winners who will return to school next week, were among the boys' together with most of the boys who showed in several games but not enough to win awards.

So long as the hot weather continues, Coach Wallace Cole will have the boys work in track suits. Most of the activity this week will be conditioning exercises and a few fundamentals which will permit use of track suits.

Whether two drills a day will be attempted depends on the heat. Next Tuesday drills will be held once a day and with football suits as the squad gets down to hard work for the opener, Sept. 18, at St. Mary, Menasha.

Freedom Plays 3 Games in One Day; Wins in 2

Freedom won two games Sunday by downing the Ritz tavern of Kaukauna in the morning, 10-9, in a 10-inning struggle and following a licking by the Modern Shoes, 16-7, the squad came back to defeat the Old Timers of Appleton, 9-5.

Jack Murphy, N. Conrad and J. Rickert formed the Freedom battery against the Kaukauna aggregation while Berg and Nicz worked for the losers. N. Conrad, Jim Murphy and Pat Murphy worked for Freedom in the Old Timers tilt while Van Haest was on the mound for the losers.

First Aid Stations Are Being Planned

Two to be Established in Waupaca County by Red Cross Chapter

Waupaca — Mrs. Lester Emans, president of the Waupaca county chapter of the Red Cross, reports that arrangements will soon be completed for the installation of two first aid stations in the county. After conferring with the highway department to determine the points in the county at which the most traffic accidents occur, the Red Cross has decided to install safety kits and trained attendants on the dangerous curve on Highway 10 in the vicinity of the intersection of Highway 10 and 110 east of Fremont, where the A. W. Pitt lunch room and campsite will be equipped as a station.

The finances of these safety provisions will be cared for by the WPA, but training and equipment will be supervised by the Red Cross.

Guy Pitt, 34, barkeeper in Fremont, was arrested in Waupaca Sunday by Policeman Harold Holly on the charge of drunken driving. Pitt pleaded not guilty before Justice S. W. Johnson Monday, and was freed on $100 bond. His trial was set for Friday.

Sherwood 4-H Club Band Is Busy During Week

Sherwood—The 40-piece 4-H club band of Sherwood played at the State fair Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. On Thursday the band broadcast from stations WHBL and WHA. Friday the band led the dairy queen parade on the fair grounds. Many local residents attended the fair on Dairy day, last Thursday.

Miss Rose Loeck, who visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Loeck, Sherwood, during the summer months, returned to Evanston, Ill., Monday. She is a teacher in nursing at a local hospital there.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lemke. Members of the Wide-A-Wake 4-H club will attend their monthly meeting on Wednesday evening at Spoer's hall here.

Europe Sends Strange Craft for Boat Races

DETROIT — A strange-looking hydroplane will roar up to the starting line off the Detroit yacht club piers on Labor day, Sept. 6, when the annual Gold cup regatta's feature event gets under way.

With the participation of foreign-built hydroplanes for the first time

Then there is Count Ressa's Alagi, which holds the world's speed record for its class of 20.97 miles an hour. Radically different in design from the American racers, its single screw sets well under the hull, with the driver's seat, at the rear, projecting out over the rudder.

Three French craft also contrast sharply with the American boats. Emile Pierece's Rafale II also features the square appearance that many motorboat enthusiasts believe produces greatest speed.

Nearly two score outboard drivers, probably including young Gar Wood, Jr., 19-year-old son of the greatest of all speedboat drivers, will have plenty of opportunity in the several other events that make up the regatta program.

Alagi — A "20-Miles-An-Hour" Flounder

in the Gold cup's history something entirely new is being introduced by European contestants. There is for example Count

Retired Officer Rotary Speaker

Former Police Captain at Clintonville Group

Clintonville—Herbert A. Moore, retired police captain of Cleveland, Ohio, was the guest speaker at the Clintonville Rotary club luncheon Monday at Hotel Marston. Mr. Moore, a member of the police force for 36 years, talked on law enforcement and duties of a police officer. He said that a police officer is not able to express his own religious or political views while in office. He felt that a policeman could hardly be honest with himself because he is so closely watched.

The retired captain is opposed to the liberal parole system now in effect. He referred to a record kept by himself of 2600 paroled convicts, all of whom had been returned to prison from two to five times. He said the average offender is not very much afraid of the law because he has such good chances of not being convicted. Mr. Moore stated that during the last year, five members on the Cleveland police force have been killed by criminals. The former captain also talked on juvenile delinquencies and felt that the future of the young offenders of the law depends largely upon the precinct officers.

Mr. Moore has been retired for the last year and during that time he and his wife have been traveling with a house trailer. They are now camping at Shawano lake. The speaker was brought to Clintonville by William Donaldson of Shawano, a former member of the local club. FLAME TRAIL

SYNOPSIS: Fire destroy's Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn. Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy her ranch and court Kay. She hates him and is determined to keep her ranch and rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other, Hastings finds them unconscious and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a shack where a girl named Marion nurses him. The gun is found and Sheriff Farley hunts Ted. Kay finds the shack, sees Ted and Marion together and rides off in jealous agony.

Chapter 32
UNCONSCIOUS BETRAYAL
REALIZING the suicidal chances she was taking, but refusing to heed them, Kay urged Flicker on, in obedience to the compelling desire for speed that possessed her.
Relief at knowing Ted was safe and not badly hurt was completely overshadowed by her frustrated sense of loss. Her feeling was none the less bitter for her violent self disgust. Fool that she had been, to let herself care for a man who had obviously just been playing with her!

Probably Ted had been flattered by her, and kidding her along just the way she did Tom Runyon! And she had taken it all seriously, and allowed herself to dream about him, and imagine all sorts of vague and delightful future possibilities.

"Thank goodness that's all over, Flicker!" She declared fiercely, finding relief in voicing her torturing thoughts out loud. "I've got his measure now and I'll never think of him again. Let them hang him for murder if they want to!" She broke off with a horrified sob. "No, no! I don't mean that!"

She pulled Flicker in as they came to a sharp curve in the trail and started up a steep rise. Flicker

Lions Again Plan Extension Course For Waupaca Area

First Classes Scheduled for Sept. 20 in City Library

Waupaca—The Lions Service club has again made all arrangements for University of Wisconsin Extension classes in Waupaca. This year classes will meet in the club-rooms of the library, the first one to be held Sept. 20. The opening date has been postponed to coincide with the opening of the university. The freshman courses will be offered again this year, but students will also be able to take 10 credits in courses of sophomore ranking. Four traveling professors will come each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to teach English, medieval history, sociology, and geography.

The Lions extension committee has been out during the last 10 days, ascertaining the final decisions of prospective students from New London, Iola, Scandinavia, Almond, Clintonville, Marion, Manawa, and intervening country territory. The Rev. Hugh A. Misdal is the chairman of the committee, and other members are Lester Emans, superintendent of schools; John Burnham, Dr. Carroll Barry, R. D. Luther, Hugh Raymond and George Klocke.

The Lions held their chicken dinner and ladies' night at Camp Cleg-horn Monday. A. M. Scheller was leader of the singing, and also, as past district governor of the Lions, presented Benjamin Dance with a certificate and medal of past president of the local chapter. Following a report of the university extension committee the Lions left the dining hall, and took ringside seats around their automobile radios to hear the prize fight. The evening's entertainment was then climaxed by a dance revue given by the pupils of Yva Palmis Peterson. LaVerne Peterson accompanied the young dancers on the piano. The featured included: Miss Ann Marie Emans in "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star";

Hobart School to Observe Its Eightieth Anniversary

Royalton—The Hobart school, a landmark in this section in early years, will celebrate its eightieth anniversary this coming year. At the time it was organized there were 12 families in the district, now there are 24 families.

The school ground was purchased from Peter Suab and later the late Daniel Gotham donated a second strip on the south side, on condition that the school district would keep the fence in good repair.

The present building was built in 1859 by L. Lamb contractor for the sum of $400. This same building has been enlarged and repaired and is still in good condition.

Miss Ellen Hobart was the first teacher, and because there were several Hobart families living in the district, the name Hobart district was adopted.

Miss Hobart was paid with town orders and received money from the town treasury. Often she sold the orders at a discount to some farmer in order to get her money at once.

Other teachers in this school in early days were: John Hicks of Oshkosh, later editor of the Oshkosh Northwestern and for many years foreign minister to Peru; Edgar Tibbets, later interpreter of foreign languages at Washington, D. C.; and Samuel Ritchie, who later was Waupaca county clerk and afterwards, until his death, was cashier of the First National bank at New London.

Mrs. Arthur Ritchie has been engaged to teach this school the coming year, she being the eighteenth of the Ritchie clan to teach in this school.

There are three generations of Ritchies who have attended this school and four generations of Stillmans.

The present school board: Clerk, Carroll Ritchie; treasurer, Otto Redman; director, Oscar Haight.

The school term started Monday. Mrs. Amanda Stevens returned home on Wednesday after a trip through the west.

U. S. Steel Leads In Downward Drift In Share Dealings

Wall Street Hears Predictions of Disappointing Fall Business

Compiled by the Associated Press
U. S. Steel leads in downward drift in share dealings. Wall Street hears predictions of disappointing fall business.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
New York—(AP)—Taking its cue from the heavy downward performance of U. S. Steel, the stock market stooped fractions to 3 or more points today.

Weakness of "big steel" and other steels was explained in Wall Street circles in terms of trade predictions fall business may be disappointing.

Transactions approximated 750,000 shares.

Issues lacking energy most of the session were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, American Rolling Mill, Wheeling Steel, Republic, Crucible Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Santa Fe, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Preferred, Pullman, Atlantic Coast Line, Radio, Philip Morris, Paramount, Crown Cork and Seal, Eastman Kodak, J. Nash Motors Officials Are Silent on Report
Kenosha—(AP)—Nash Motors officials refused today to either confirm or deny reports that the corporation would produce an air-conditioned automobile this fall.

The officials refused to disclose the mechanics of the air-conditioning unit said to have been perfected by Nash-Kelvinator engineers, but reports were the improvement is an attachment which will operate from the heater and keep the car cool by circulation of air while the windows are closed.

Fractional Declines In Trading on Curb
New York—(AP)—Lack of support in the curb market today brought fractional losses in the active list, and a few sharper dips in inactive specialties.

Meager interest of both buyers and sellers held volume to a low level.

Electric Bond and Share lost a little ground, the $6 preferred dropped about a point.

Cord Corp. moved against the main trend, rising about 1 1/2.

Wheat Fails to Retain Its Gains In Earlier Trade

Rain in Argentina Is Bearish Factor Resulting in Late Selling

Chicago—(AP)—Enlarged buying around noon today temporarily lifted wheat prices about a cent above the previous close but the gain could not be held.

Late selling that beat values back to yesterday's finishing level was associated to some extent with an apparently authoritative cable indicating rain was falling in Argentina and that fairly general moisture relief might occur.

Said foreign importers' demand for American wheat may depend to a large extent on the size of the Argentine crop this season.

Wheat closed 1/2 higher to 1/2 lower compared with Tuesday's finish, September 1.031-04, December 1.031-4, and corn was 1/4 up to 21 down, September 951-4 December 921-4. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 up.

Land Inventory Progressing in Valley Counties

Summaries Will be Available Early Next Year, Director Reports

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — That the exhaustive land economic inventory of the Fox River Valley counties, which has been in progress most of the summer, will be completed before the end of the year, with published county summaries available soon after, was predicted by Earl D. Hillburn, state project director of the inventory here yesterday.

Work is now under way in Brown, Outagamie, Calumet, Door, Kewaunee and Marinette counties. Hillburn reported, while Winnebago county was recently finished and Manitowoc county work will wind up this week.

WPA workers have been assigned to work in the project, and will eventually touch every township in district No. 2, which includes all the northeastern counties. They will assemble information to be used in a cover map of the respective counties, a map which will show the actual location and description of practically everything above ground. It will show roads, lakes, rivers, buildings, drainage ditches, and forest conditions, including the type of wood. Appropriate statistics will accompany each map.

To Establish Office
A drafting office which will prepare the maps will shortly be established in Green Bay, to serve the whole area. Hillburn said, under the direction of Lawrence Larson, Green Bay, district supervisor.

Supplementary studies will show real estate assessments and valuations, tax delinquencies, game count, timber resources and other pertinent material in each county. Studies will be available for general distribution.

Each worker is assigned to one section daily during the actual progress of the inventory. The drawings are turned over to draftsmen, who in turn set them up by township. Later the township maps go to make up the county map.

The work of the project requires traveling over some farm fields by inventory workers, but farmers' property will not be damaged, the state office explained.

Council to Act on Final Costs of Avenue Paving

A final report on assessments for resurfacing College avenue from Drew street to Story street and Washington street from Oneida street to Superior street will be considered at a meeting of the common council at 7:30 this evening. Reports of various committees and boards will be considered by the aldermen.

FLAME TRAIL

stopped gratefully, but stood blowing and stirring restively, as though the contagion of his mistress's mood had spread to him, setting every nerve quiver.

Twilight was almost gone, Kay noticed, coming out of her concentration on her inner feeling to a startled realization of the present. She must at least get down across the valley between the two divides before night overtook her. Forging the stream that raced between the two ridges was no easy thing in full daylight, and to attempt it in the dark would be an insane risk.

"What do we care, Flicks?" Kay demanded rebelliously, in answer to her thought. She gave Flicker a sharp click of her heel, and urged him up the slope, then headed down again at a break-neck pace that was even more perilous than before in the half light.

Suddenly Flicker stumbled and almost pitched headlong, but recovered in response to Kay's steady pull on the reins. Before he was able to come to a halt on the steep descent, a large rock, loosened from the cliff above them, clattered down at his feet.

This proved the last straw for Flicker's strained and quivering nerves. With a terrified bound sideways, he plunged and went down on his knees, pitching Kay over his head onto the rock trail.

Scrambling to his feet, Flicker jumped over the prostrate form lying motionless in the trail before him, and raced on in a mad rush of terror.

Tom Considers Matrimony
For some time after Kay left him, Tom Runyon watched her as she threaded her way along the trail.

"Some girl!" he observed aloud with an admiring appraisal of the perfect poise of her lithe figure on Flicker's back. "The first girl I've seen in a long time that I reckon would be a good bet to corral into matrimony."

He watched for Kay's reappearance around a curve in the trail, and added complacently, "Yes, sir, I've a good mind to make her Mrs. Tom Runyon, damned if I haven't! I could go a heap farther and fare worse. Even if her ranch house is burnt down, she's got a pretty piece of property there," he went on, ruminating aloud. "And she's some looker into the bargain!"

Turning away, as Kay at last passed out of sight, Tom Runyon went back to where he had left his horse, a smile of fatuous satisfaction on his face. He never doubted Kay's acquiescence to the flattering prospects he was entertaining of her future, as he went on to plan his campaign to win her hand.

"Looks like she's kind of stuck on this Gaynor guy," he confided to his mount as he headed down the trail. "But I reckon he's pretty well out of the picture now. And if he isn't, I can soon fix that up!" He gave a conceited chuckle, then went on with his soliloquy. "All's fair in love and war! As soon as I get off tomorrow, I'll go up the way she asked me to, and then I'll hitchhike it over to the Lazy Nine with my findings! And oh, boy, they'll be some findings!"

Planning to stick around on the chance of seeing Kay on her way back, Tom Runyon spent a good part of the afternoon on the look-out for her, as well as scanning the ridge for a telltale smoke column.

Ever since he had come to patrol this region, the fires had ceased. Today was the first glimpse of smoke he had had, and he grinned with a satisfied memory of the cause of it.

"Reckon that firebug isn't taking any chances now he knows I'm on the job," he observed, as he drew his mount in on a promontory of rock that gave a good view of the trail that Kay would soon be descending. "I've half a mind to ride back with that little red head and pop the question, now!"

After impatiently waiting an hour or more, Tom Runyon's good humor began to be strained. He had not wanted to take a chance of missing Kay by going back to his camp to get a bite of supper, and the pangs of hunger were decidedly affecting his temper.

The sun dipped behind the central divide, and the afterglow flamed across the sky, but no Kay appeared on the distant trail.

Anxiety finally got the better of Tom's ill temper, and he decided to ride on and meet her. As the twilight deepened, he found himself headed down the west slope of the eastern divide. By the time he reached the stream at its foot, it was nearly dark.

Pulling his mount in, he weighed in his mind the possible causes of Kay's delay. There was the chance, of course, that she had headed along the ridge, instead of coming back this way at all.

If that was the case, it would be a crazy wild goose chase to go up the central divide at night looking for her. The harvest moon could still be depended on to light up the last half of the night, but he didn't relish the idea of following up Kay's trail by dark if she was already safely back at the Lazy Nine.

In Flicker's Wake
A distant clatter of hoofs brought him out of his musing to alert attention. With puckered brow, he listened intently, and as the sounds came nearer, he let out a puzzled oath. Kay surely wouldn't be crazy enough to take that trail at that pace, even if she was trying to beat the gathering darkness.

Putting spurs to his horse, Tom forced him into the dark waters of the stream, and made his way across, just in time to meet Flicker, wild-eyed and riderless, racing toward him. Flicker wheeled abruptly at the sight of the horse and rider waiting to block his path, and whirled to one side, but Tom Runyon rode him down, and grabbed the bit. With wary skill, he checked his plunging, and at last brought him to a quivering halt.

Tom was now sure that something had happened to Kay. He lost no time in tying Flicker to a tree beside the stream, and took the trail at a run. He figured Kay must have been thrown at least a quarter of a mile up the trail, before he could have heard Flicker's hoofbeats. He pushed on at full speed, trusting his mount to find his footing in the dark that now enveloped them.

After covering the distance that he judged Flicker had covered from the moment when he had first heard him, Tom pulled his horse in and proceeded more cautiously. He called Kay's name from time to time, and listened anxiously for some response.

His horse plunged with a sudden snort and refused to go on. Tom swung to the ground, ran up the trail and dropped on his knees beside Kay's prostrate form.

Pulling out his pocket flash, he examined the ugly cut on her head, and felt for her heart. It was stronger than he had dared to hope, and her pulse had a reassuring beat.

Tom lifted her head on his knee and chafed her hands in the hope of reviving her sufficiently to get her back with more ease than if she were a dead, unconscious weight. After a few minutes she stirred restlessly, shifting her head and muttering. Tom Runyon bent close to hear what she was saying, and a grim satisfaction spread over his face as he caught her words.

"What cabin?" he prompted gently. "The cabin by the clearing," Kay moaned, unconsciously responding to his question in her delirium. She drifted again into unintelligible mutterings, then exclaimed in clear tones. "The black haired girl! There is a black haired girl!"

"Where is she?" Again Tom's voice seemed to penetrate to her subconsciousness.

"In the cabin with Ted," a broken sob escaped Kay. "Both of them — up there in the cabin."

A flicker of triumph gleamed in Tom Runyon's hard eyes. "Never mind," he soothed. "We'll fix that." (Copyright, 1937, Marie de Nervaud.)

Tom puts the sheriff on Ted's trail, tomorrow.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

New York — It looks as if the old verses about the speedy gal who arrived before she started are about to come true literally, in aviation.

A speed of 430 miles with an engine of 2,200 horsepower won the Schneider trophy. It is calculated would be due to the lowered resistance of the air. This speed, the scientists point out, would mean five hours for a trip from London to New York. This is exactly the time the sun's advancing sunrise shadow takes to travel from London to New York. This means that aviation already has an engine capable of speeding westward as fast as time.

By clocking "daylight" time at one end, the existing engine would make it possible for a Londoner to reach New York one hour before he left London.
